

Jan Collinson

Senior Vice President, Human Resources and Facilities

People. Passion. Performance. This is the banner under which Jan Collinson leads Synopsys' global Human Resources and Facilities/Real Estate professional teams, also known as TeamHR. Identifying the right talent—with that spark of curiosity and passion, capable of addressing the world's toughest technical challenges—that's TeamHR's mission. Ms. Collinson's commitment to Synopsys has spanned two decades and resulted in three distinct careers: Facilities Management, Real Estate Management, and since 2003, Human Resources Management. Having joined Synopsys in 1990, Ms. Collinson has played key roles in talent strategy development, acquisition integration and deploying critical programs and processes in support of Synopsys employees (also known as "Synopsoids") and their performance. She was honored to represent Synopsys as a recipient of a 2008 YWCA Twin Award.

Prior to joining Synopsys, Ms. Collinson enjoyed several roles in both start-up and established companies.

Ms. Collinson received a bachelor's degree from California State University – Fresno (Go Bull Dogs!).

Would you like to make an impact—moving technology forward, faster? Check us out in this video: "Take a Look Inside Synopsys."