SYNOPSYS, INC.
NOTES TO UNAUDITED CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Note 1. Description of Business

Synopsys, Inc. (Synopsys or the Company) is a world leader in electronic design automation (EDA), supplying the global electronics market with software, intellectual property (IP) and services used in semiconductor design and manufacturing. The Company delivers technology-leading semiconductor design and verification platforms and integrated circuit (IC) manufacturing related products to the global electronics market, enabling the development and production of complex systems-on-chips (SoCs). In addition, the Company provides IP, system-level solutions and design services to simplify the design process and accelerate time-to-market for our customers, and software and services that help customers prepare and optimize their designs for manufacturing.

Note 2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

The Company has prepared the accompanying unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements pursuant to the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission (the Commission). Pursuant to these rules and regulations, the Company has condensed or omitted certain information and footnote disclosures it normally includes in its annual consolidated financial statements prepared in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP). In management's opinion, the Company has made all adjustments (consisting only of normal, recurring adjustments, except as otherwise indicated) necessary to fairly present its financial position, results of operations and cash flows. The Company's interim period operating results do not necessarily indicate the results that may be expected for any other interim period or for the full fiscal year. These financial statements and accompanying notes should be read in conjunction with the consolidated financial statements and notes thereto in Synopsys' Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended October 31, 2007 on file with the Commission.

To prepare financial statements in conformity with GAAP, management must make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in the unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements and accompanying notes. Actual results could differ from these estimates and may result in material effects on the Company's operating results and financial position. There have been no significant changes in accounting policies since the filing of the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended October 31, 2007, other than the impact of the adoption of Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) Interpretation No. 48, Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes, (FIN 48) which is disclosed in Note 13 Taxes.

Principles of Consolidation. The unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Company and all of its subsidiaries. All significant intercompany accounts and transactions have been eliminated.

Fiscal Year End. The Company has adopted a fiscal year ending on the Saturday nearest to October 31. The Company's third fiscal quarters ended on August 2, 2008 and August 4, 2007, respectively. For presentation purposes, the unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements and accompanying notes refer to the applicable calendar month end. Fiscal 2008 is a 52-week fiscal year and as a result, the three and nine months ended July 31, 2008 had 13 weeks and 39 weeks, respectively. Fiscal 2007 was a 53-week year and the three and nine months ended July 31, 2007 had 13 weeks and 40 weeks, respectively.

Note 3. Share-based Compensation

Accounting for Share-based Compensation

The Company uses the Black-Scholes option-pricing model to determine the fair value of stock options and awards under the employee stock purchase plans in accordance with Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 123 (Revised 2004), Share-Based Payment, (SFAS 123 (R)). The Black-Scholes option-pricing model incorporates various subjective assumptions including expected volatility, expected term and interest rates. The expected volatility for both stock options and the employee stock purchase plans (ESPP) is estimated by a combination of implied volatility for publicly traded options of the Company's stock with a term of six months or longer and the historical stock price volatility over the estimated expected term of the Company's share-based awards. The expected term of the Company's share-based awards is based on historical experience.

Table of Contents

The assumptions used to estimate the fair value of stock options granted and employee stock purchase rights granted under the Company's stock option plans and ESPP for the three and nine months ended July 31, 2008 and 2007 are as follows:

	Three Months Ended July 31,		Nine months Ended July 31,

Weighted average grant date fair value	$5.33	$6.43	$6.29	$6.43

The Company also granted restricted stock units as part of the Company's new hire and annual incentive compensation program starting in fiscal 2007. Restricted stock units are valued based on the closing price of the Company's common stock on the grant date. In general, restricted stock units vest over three to four years and are subject to the employees' continuing service to the Company. During the three and nine months ended July 31, 2008, the weighted average grant date fair values were $25.39 and $25.90 per share, respectively. During the three and nine months ended July 31, 2007, the weighted average grant date fair values were $26.73 and $26.85 per share, respectively.

As of July 31, 2008, there was $81.0 million of unamortized expense related to options and restricted share awards which is expected to be amortized over a weighted-average period of approximately 3.4 years. The intrinsic values of options exercised during the three and nine months ended July 31, 2008 were $7.9 million and $16.7 million, respectively. The intrinsic values of options exercised during the three and nine months ended July 31, 2007 were $9.2 million and $56.8 million, respectively.

The compensation cost recognized in the unaudited condensed consolidated statement of operations for these share-based compensation arrangements was as follows:

(in thousands)	Three Months Ended July 31,		Nine months Ended July 31,

Share-based compensation expense after taxes	$ 13,275	$ 12,439	$ 38,939	$ 36,037

Note 4. Stock Repurchase Program

The Company is authorized to purchase up to $500.0 million of its common stock under a stock repurchase program originally established by the Company's Board of Directors (the Board) in December 2004. The Company repurchases shares to offset dilution caused by ongoing stock issuances from existing plans for equity compensation awards, acquisitions, and when management believes it is a good use of cash. Repurchases are transacted in accordance with Rule 10b-18 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (Exchange Act) through open market purchases, plans executed under Rule 10b5-1(c) under the Exchange Act and structured transactions.

During the nine months ended July 31, 2008, the Company purchased 7.2 million shares at an average price of $23.64 per share, respectively. There were no stock repurchases for the three months ended July 31, 2008. During the three and nine months ended July 31, 2007, the Company purchased 2.2 million shares at an average price of $27.05 per share, and 5.3 million shares at an average price of $26.70 per share, respectively. The aggregate purchase prices were $170.1 million and $140.8 million in the nine months ended July 31, 2008 and 2007, respectively. During the three and nine months ended July 31, 2008, approximately 1.1 million and 3.6 million shares were reissued, respectively, for employee share-based compensation requirements. During the three and nine months ended July 31, 2007, approximately 1.1 million and 8.3 million shares were reissued, respectively, for employee share-based compensation requirements. On March 22, 2007, the Board replenished the stock repurchase program to $500.0 million. As of July 31, 2008, $259.7 million remained available for further purchases under the program.

Note 5. Business Combinations

On May 15, 2008, the Company acquired all outstanding shares of Synplicity, Inc. (Synplicity). Synplicity was a leading supplier of innovative field programmable gate array (FPGA) and IC design and verification solutions that served a wide range of communications, military/aerospace, semiconductor, consumer, computer, and other electronic applications markets. The Company believes the acquisition will expand its technology portfolio, channel reach and total addressable market by adding complementary products and expertise for FPGA solutions and rapid ASIC prototyping.

Purchase Price. Synopsys paid $8.00 per share for all outstanding shares including certain vested options of Synplicity for an aggregate cash payment of $223.3 million. Additionally, Synopsys assumed certain employee stock options and restricted stock units, collectively called "stock awards." The total purchase consideration consisted of:

	(in thousands)
Cash paid, net of cash acquired	$ 180,618
Fair value of assumed vested or earned stock awards	4,169
Acquisition-related costs	8,865
Total purchase price consideration	$ 193,652

Estimated acquisition related costs of $8.9 million consist primarily of professional services, severance and employee related costs and facilities closure costs.

Fair Value of Stock Awards Assumed. An aggregate of 4.7 million shares of Synplicity stock options and restricted stock units were exchanged for Synopsys stock options and restricted stock units at an exchange ratio of 0.3392 per share. The fair value of stock options assumed was determined using a Black-Scholes valuation model. The fair value of stock awards vested or earned of $4.2 million was included as part of the purchase price. The fair value of unvested awards of $5.3 million will be recorded as compensation expense over the remaining service periods on a straight-line basis.

Preliminary Purchase Price Allocation. In allocating the purchase price based on estimated fair values, we recorded approximately $118.4 million of goodwill, $80.0 million of identifiable intangible assets to be amortized over two to seven years, $4.8 million of in-process research and development, $29.9 million of remaining tangible assets, and $39.4 million of assumed liabilities. The Company has not yet finalized certain acquisition related costs and tax allocations.

Goodwill, representing the excess of the purchase price over the fair value of tangible and identifiable intangible assets acquired, was $118.4 million and will not be amortized and is not deductible for tax purposes. Goodwill primarily resulted from the Company's expectation of synergies and growth from the integration of Synplicity's technology with the Company's technology and operations to provide an expansion of products and market reach.

Other

During the first quarter of fiscal 2008, the Company paid $0.4 million for achievement of certain product milestones related to a prior acquisition. This payment was an adjustment to goodwill.

Note 8. Credit Facility

On October 20, 2006, the Company entered into a five-year, $300.0 million senior unsecured revolving credit facility providing for loans to the Company and certain of its foreign subsidiaries. The amount of the facility may be increased by up to an additional $150.0 million through the fourth year of the facility. The facility contains financial covenants requiring the Company to maintain a minimum leverage ratio and specified levels of cash, as well as other non-financial covenants. The facility terminates on October 20, 2011. Borrowings under the facility bear interest at the greater of the administrative agent's prime rate or the federal funds rate plus 0.50%; however, the Company has the option to pay interest based on the outstanding amount at Eurodollar rates plus a spread between 0.50% and 0.70% based on a pricing grid tied to a financial covenant. In addition, commitment fees are payable on the facility at rates between 0.125% and 0.175% per year based on a pricing grid tied to a financial covenant. As of July 31, 2008, the Company had no outstanding borrowings under this credit facility and was in compliance with all the covenants.

Note 10. Net Income per Share

The Company computes basic income per share by dividing net income available to common shareholders by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the period. Diluted net income per share reflects the dilution of potential common shares outstanding such as stock options and unvested restricted stock units and awards during the period using the treasury stock method.

The table below reconciles the weighted-average common shares used to calculate basic net income per share with the weighted-average common shares used to calculate diluted net income per share.

Diluted net income per share excludes 9.4 million and 6.1 million of anti-dilutive stock options and unvested restricted stock units and awards for the three months ended July 31, 2008 and 2007, respectively; and 9.6 million and 6.1 million of anti-dilutive options and unvested restricted stock units and awards for the nine months ended July 31, 2008 and 2007, respectively. While these stock options and unvested restricted stock units and awards were anti-dilutive for the respective periods, they could be dilutive in the future.

Note 11. Segment Disclosure

SFAS No. 131, Disclosures about Segments of an Enterprise and Related Information (SFAS 131) requires disclosure of certain information regarding operating segments, products and services, geographic areas of operation and major customers. SFAS 131 reporting is based upon the “management approach,” i.e., how management organizes the Company’s operating segments for which separate financial information is (1) available and (2) evaluated regularly by the Chief Operating Decision Maker (CODM) in deciding how to allocate resources and in assessing performance. Synopsys’ CODMs are the Company’s Chief Executive Officer and Chief Operating Officer.

The Company provides software products and consulting services in the electronic design automation software industry. The Company operates in a single segment. In making operating decisions, the CODMs primarily consider consolidated financial information, accompanied by disaggregated information about revenues by geographic region. Specifically, the CODMs consider where individual “seats” or licenses to the Company’s products are used in allocating revenue to particular geographic areas. Revenue is defined as revenues from external customers. Goodwill is not allocated since the Company operates in one reportable operating segment.

Revenues related to operations in the United States and other geographic areas were:

Consolidated	$ 344,128	$ 304,098	$ 984,146	$ 897,236

Geographic revenue data for multi-region, multi-product transactions reflect internal allocations and is therefore subject to certain assumptions and to the Company’s methodology.

One customer accounted for more than ten percent of the Company’s consolidated revenue in the three and nine months ended July 31, 2008 and 2007.

Note 13. Taxes

Effective Tax Rate

The Company estimates its annual effective tax rate at the end of each quarterly period. The Company's estimate takes into account estimations of annual pre-tax income, the geographic mix of pre-tax income and the Company's interpretations of tax laws and possible outcomes of audits.

The following table presents the provision/(benefit) for income taxes and the effective tax rates for the three and nine months ended July 31, 2008 and 2007:

	Three Months Ended July 31,		Nine Months Ended July 31,
	2008	2007	2008	2007
Income before income taxes	$ 52,979	$ 33,827	$ 163,236	$ 118,599
(Benefit) provision for income tax	$ (4,770)	$ 8,972	$ 19,655	$ 29,122
Effective tax rate	(9.0)%	26.5%	12.0%	24.6%

The Company's effective tax rate for the three and nine months ended July 31, 2008 is lower than the statutory federal income tax rate of 35% primarily due to a favorable final resolution on transfer pricing issues related to the 2000-2001 IRS examination reached during the quarter, the tax impact of non-U.S. operations, which are taxed at lower rates, and research and development credits partially offset by state taxes, non-deductible share-based compensation, and in-process research and development charges. The effective tax rate decreased in the three months and nine months ended July 31, 2008, as compared to the same periods in fiscal 2007, primarily due to a favorable final resolution on transfer pricing issues related to the 2000-2001 IRS examination and additional research credits claimed on the Company's 2007 federal and state tax returns.

Adoption of FIN 48

In June 2006, the FASB issued FASB Interpretation No. 48, Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes—an interpretation of FASB Statement No. 109 (FIN 48). The interpretation contains a two-step approach to recognize and measure uncertain tax positions accounted for in accordance with SFAS 109. The first step is to evaluate the tax position for recognition by determining whether it is more likely than not that the position will be sustained on audit, including resolution of related appeals or litigation processes, if any. The second step is to measure the tax benefit as the largest amount which is more than 50% likely of being realized upon ultimate settlement. In May 2007, the FASB issued Staff Position No. FIN 48-1 (FSP FIN 48-1), Definition of Settlement in FASB Interpretation No. 48, which amended FIN 48 to provide guidance about how an enterprise should determine whether a tax position is effectively settled for the purpose of recognizing previously unrecognized tax benefits. Under FSP FIN 48-1, a tax position could be effectively settled on completion of an examination by a taxing authority if certain other conditions are satisfied.

The Company adopted FIN 48 and FSP FIN 48-1 in the first quarter of fiscal 2008 and recognized the cumulative effect of a change in accounting principle by recognizing a decrease in the liability for unrecognized tax benefits of $5.0 million, with a corresponding increase to beginning retained earnings. The Company also recognized an additional decrease in the liability for unrecognized tax benefits related to employee stock options of $9.7 million of which $7.7 million increased beginning paid-in capital with the remaining $2.0 million off-setting existing deferred tax assets. The total liability for gross unrecognized tax benefits was $207.3 and $181.5 million on November 1, 2007 and July 31, 2008, respectively, of which $124.7 million and $76.6 million would affect the Company's effective tax rate if recognized upon resolution of the related uncertain tax position. The liability for unrecognized tax benefits decreased $16.2 million and $25.8 million during the three and nine months ended July 31, 2008, respectively, primarily due to the final resolution on transfer pricing issues related to the 2000-2001 IRS examination, partially offset by acquisition related unrecognized tax benefits.

Interest and penalties related to estimated obligations for tax positions taken in the Company's tax returns are recognized as a component of income tax expense in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations. As of November 1, 2007, the combined amount of accrued interest and penalties related to tax positions taken on the Company's tax returns was approximately $10.3 million. The accrued interest and penalties decreased by approximately $2.5 million and $5.4 million during the three and nine months ended July 31, 2008. Prior to fiscal 2008, the estimated liability for unrecognized tax benefits was presented as a current liability. FIN 48 requires liabilities for unrecognized tax benefits to be classified based on whether it is expected payment will be made within the next 12 months. Amounts expected to be paid within the next 12 months are classified as current liabilities and all other amounts are classified as non-current liabilities or offset against a directly related deferred tax asset or income tax receivable. In addition, the Company has historically recorded state, local and interest liabilities net of the estimated benefit which is expected to be received from deducting such payments on future tax returns (i.e., on a "net" basis). FIN 48 requires this estimated benefit to be classified as a deferred tax asset instead of a reduction of the overall liability (i.e., on a "gross" basis).

The Company files income tax returns in the U.S., including various state and local jurisdictions. Its subsidiaries file tax returns in various foreign jurisdictions, including Ireland, Hungary, Taiwan and Japan. The Company remains subject to income tax examinations in the U.S. for fiscal years after 1999, in Hungary and Taiwan for fiscal years after 2005, in Ireland for fiscal years after 2002 and in Japan for fiscal years after 2004. See "IRS Examinations," below for the status of our current federal income tax audits.

The timing of the resolution of income tax examinations is highly uncertain as well as the amounts and timing of various tax payments that are part of the settlement process. This could cause large fluctuations in the balance sheet classification of current and non-current assets and liabilities. The Company believes that before the end of fiscal 2008, it is reasonably possible that the statute of limitations on certain state and foreign income and withholding taxes will expire. Given the uncertainty as to ultimate settlement terms, the timing of payment and the impact of such settlements on other uncertain tax positions, the range of the estimated potential decrease in underlying unrecognized tax benefits is between $0 and $13 million.

IRS Examinations

Fiscal years 2000-2001

On June 8, 2005, the Company received a Revenue Agent's Report (RAR) in which the IRS proposed to assess a net tax deficiency for fiscal years 2000 and 2001 of approximately $476.8 million, plus interest. This proposed adjustment primarily related to transfer pricing transactions between Synopsys and a wholly owned foreign subsidiary.

On July 13, 2005, the Company filed a protest to the proposed deficiency with the IRS, which caused the matter to be referred to the Appeals Office of the IRS. On June 30, 2008, the IRS and the Company executed a final Closing Agreement pursuant to which substantially all of the proposed assessment was eliminated.

As a result of the final resolution of the transfer pricing issue, the Company decreased its FIN 48 liabilities by $41.0 million in the third quarter of 2008, including interest accrued of $2.8 million. Concurrently, the Company evaluated its ability to use certain foreign tax credit carryovers which have been recorded as noncurrent deferred tax assets in its balance sheet, a portion of which may have been available to offset the FIN 48 liability. The Company concluded that it was no longer more likely than not that $14.6 million of its foreign tax credits will be used prior to the expiration of the carryover period, and recorded a valuation allowance for this amount. Accordingly, the Company's provision for income taxes shows an income tax benefit (net of decreases in related deferred tax assets) of $17.3 million as a result of the 2000-2001 IRS settlement.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, the statute of limitations remains open with respect to fiscal years 2000-2001 for two related issues until the Appeals Office has considered certain refund claims relevant to these years which are affected by the fiscal year 2002-2004 federal income tax audit. The Company has accrued the tax for these issues in accordance with the tentative settlement the Company reached with the IRS in December 2007.

Fiscal years 2002-2004

The Company is regularly audited by the IRS. In the third quarter of 2006, the IRS started an examination of the Company's federal income tax returns for the years 2002 through 2004. In July 2008, the IRS completed its field examination of these returns and issued an RAR in which the IRS proposed an adjustment that would result in an aggregate tax deficiency for the three year period of approximately $236.2 million, $130.5 million of which would be a reduction of certain tax losses and credits that would otherwise be available either as refund claims or to offset taxes due in future periods. The IRS is contesting the Company's tax deduction for payments made in connection with litigation between Avant! Corporation and Cadence Design Systems, Inc. In addition, the IRS has asserted that the Company is required to make an additional transfer pricing adjustment with a wholly owned non-U.S. subsidiary as a result of the Company's acquisition of Avant! in 2002. The IRS has also proposed adjustments to the Company's transfer pricing arrangements with its foreign subsidiaries, deductions for foreign trade income and certain temporary differences, of which the Company has agreed to additional taxes of approximately $20.0 million, which have been fully provided for in prior years. The proposed deficiencies, if sustained, would also result in additional state taxes (net of the federal tax benefit for state taxes paid) of approximately $17 million.

On August 9, 2008, the Company timely filed a protest with the IRS and will seek resolution of these issues through the Appeals Office. The Company strongly believes the proposed IRS adjustment and resulting proposed deficiency are inconsistent with applicable tax laws, and that the Company has meritorious defenses to this proposed IRS adjustment. The RAR is not a final Statutory Notice of Deficiency but the IRS imposes interest on any resulting tax deficiencies. The Company believes it has adequately provided for potential tax liabilities related to these years. Final resolution of these matters could take several years.

Note 14. Contingencies

See Note 13 above regarding the IRS Examinations.

Other Proceedings

The Company is also subject to other routine legal proceedings, as well as demands, claims and threatened litigation, that arise in the normal course of its business. The ultimate outcome of any litigation is uncertain and unfavorable outcomes could have a negative impact on the Company's financial position and results of operations.

Note 15. Effect of New Accounting Pronouncements

In March 2008, the FASB issued FASB Statement No. 161, Disclosures about Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities (SFAS 161). SFAS 161 requires companies with derivative instruments to disclose information on how derivative instruments and related hedged items are accounted for under FASB Statement No. 133, Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities, and how derivative instruments and related hedged items affect a company's financial position, financial performance and cash flows. SFAS 161 is effective for financial statements issued for fiscal years and interim periods beginning after November 15, 2008. The Company has not yet determined the impact that SFAS 161 may have on its consolidated financial statements.

In May 2008, the FASB issued FASB Statement No. 162, The Hierarchy of Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (SFAS 162). SFAS 162 will identify the source or hierarchy for selecting accounting principles used in preparing financial statements that are presented in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles by nongovernmental entities. SFAS 162 is effective for financial statements issued for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2008.

With the exception of the discussion above, there have been no recent accounting pronouncements or changes in accounting pronouncements during the nine months ended July 31, 2008, as compared to the recent accounting pronouncements described in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended October 31, 2007, that are of significance or potential significance to us.

Overview

Business Environment

We generate substantially all of our revenue from customers in the semiconductor and electronics industries. Our customers typically fund purchases of our software and services largely out of their research and development (R&D) budgets and, to a lesser extent, their manufacturing and capital budgets. As a result, a customer's business outlook and willingness to invest in new and increasingly complex chip designs affects their spending decisions and vendor selections.

The Electronic Design Automation (EDA) industry in which we operate is very competitive. No one factor drives an EDA customer's buying decision and we compete on all fronts to capture a higher portion of our customers' R&D budget. Our customer arrangements are complex, involving hundreds of products and various license rights.

Many of our customers are large businesses, purchasing substantially all of the capabilities our products offer. Our customers are increasingly focused on reducing their overall costs by demanding a broader portfolio of solutions, support and services. In addition, they bargain intensely on all aspects of the contractual arrangement, seeking more favorable terms at an overall lower cost. As such, customers generally negotiate the total value of the arrangement rather than just unit pricing or volumes.

We provide our products in four common groupings, or platforms, with hundreds of products within each platform. We enhance the value of our offerings by providing additional rights such as multiple copies of the tools, post-contract customer support, expanded license usage related to duration, location and quantity, contractor and site access, future purchase rights and other unique rights. In some instances, we provide customers with the ability to purchase pools of technology to address a broad spectrum of their design needs and enable our customers to exchange certain quantities of licensed software for unspecified future technology. We also offer post-contract customer support and services. These elements of added value, in addition to per-copy pricing, are some of the many factors which our customers consider when making purchasing decisions.

Historically, revenue has grown primarily as a result of increased customer demand for these additional rights related to our products, and, more recently, as a result of the impact of our business model shift as discussed below. In general, as our customers negotiate increased rights, the value of the contracts with those customers increases. Collectively, the increase in the value of all of our customer contracts is the primary driver of our overall growth in revenue over time. As further described below, the effect of an increase in value for a particular customer is typically recognized over the life of the customer contract rather than in the particular period in which the enhanced license transaction is completed.

As a result of customers seeking to conserve cash, we shifted our business model in the fourth quarter of 2004 to allow a substantial majority of our customers to pay for licenses over a period of time, rather than upfront at the time of initial purchase. Extended payment terms, as well as arrangements with technology pools and rights to unspecified future products, generate recurring revenue over a period of time, generally three years, rather than non-recurring upfront license revenue. Accordingly, most of the revenue we recognize in any particular quarter results from our selling efforts in each of the prior periods during the last three or so years rather than from efforts or changes in the current period. This business model reduces our dependence on license arrangements that generate non-recurring upfront license revenue in a particular period and provides us with the ability to resist typical software industry quarter-end pressures and decline business with terms, including pricing terms, that may be less favorable to us. We continue to target achieving greater than 90% of our total revenue as recurring revenue, which we refer to in our financial statements as time-based license and maintenance and service revenue.

Financial Performance for the Three Months Ended July 31, 2008 as Compared to the Three Months Ended July 31, 2007

- Total revenue of $344.1 million increased 13% from $304.1 million, primarily attributable to bookings of Technology Subscription Licenses (TSLs) in prior periods which increase time-based revenue recognized in later periods.
- Time-based license revenue of $289.3 million increased 15% from $251.4 million, primarily attributable to bookings of TSLs in prior periods which increase time-based revenue recognized in later periods.
- Upfront license revenue of $20.6 million increased 8% from $19.0 million. The increase was attributable to new hardware sales and upfront perpetual and term licenses from the acquisition of Synplicity in the current quarter.
- We derived approximately 94% of our total revenue from licenses generating time-based revenues, maintenance and services, and 6% from products generating upfront revenue. This reflects our adherence to our business model.
- Professional service and other revenue (which is included in maintenance and service revenue) of $17.6 million increased 4% from $16.9 million, primarily due to the timing and acceptance of services performed under ongoing contracts and continued full utilization of our services capacity.
- Net income was $57.7 million compared to $24.9 million. The increase is primarily due to increases in revenues and overall cost control efforts and a one-time benefit from a tax settlement.

Acquisition in the Three Months Ended July 31, 2008

During the quarter, we completed our acquisition of Synplicity, a leading supplier of FPGA and IC design and verification solutions for $180.6 million in cash, net of cash acquired, which we believe will help us expand our technology portfolio, channel reach and total market. See Note 5 to Notes to Unaudited Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for a discussion of the Synplicity acquisition.

Critical Accounting Policies and Estimates

Our discussion and analysis of our financial results under the heading “Result of Operations” below are based on our unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements, which we have prepared in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. In preparing these financial statements, we make assumptions, judgments and estimates that can affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenues and expenses and net income. On an on-going basis, we evaluate our estimates based on historical experience and various other assumptions we believe are reasonable under the circumstances. Our actual results may differ from these estimates.

We describe our revenue recognition and income taxes policies below because these require us to make frequent assumptions, judgments, and estimates. Our remaining critical accounting policies and estimates are discussed in Part II, Item 7 Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations of our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended October 31, 2007, filed with the SEC on December 21, 2007.

Revenue Recognition. We recognize revenue from software licenses and related maintenance and service revenue. Software license revenue consists of fees associated with the licensing of our software. Maintenance and service revenue consists of maintenance fees associated with perpetual and term licenses and professional service fees.

We have designed and implemented revenue recognition policies in accordance with Statement of Position (SOP) 97-2, Software Revenue Recognition, as amended.

With respect to software licenses, we utilize three license types:

- Technology Subscription Licenses (TSLs) are time-based licenses for a finite term, and generally provide the customer limited rights to receive, or to exchange certain quantities of licensed software for, unspecified future technology. We bundle and do not charge separately for post-contract customer support (maintenance) for the term of the license.

- Term Licenses are also for a finite term, but do not provide the customer any rights to receive, or to exchange licensed software for, unspecified future technology. Customers purchase maintenance separately for the first year and may renew annually for the balance of the term. The annual maintenance fee is typically calculated as a percentage of the net license fee.
- Perpetual Licenses continue as long as the customer renews maintenance plus an additional 20 years. Perpetual licenses do not provide the customer any rights to receive, or to exchange licensed software for, unspecified future technology. Customers purchase maintenance separately for the first year and may renew annually.

For the three software license types, we recognize revenue as follows:

- TSLs. We typically recognize revenue from TSL fees (which include bundled maintenance) ratably over the term of the license period, or as customer installments become due and payable, whichever is later. Revenue attributable to TSLs is reported as “time-based license revenue” in the statement of operations.
- Term Licenses. We recognize revenue from term licenses in full upon shipment of the software if payment terms require the customer to pay at least 75% of the term license fee within one year from shipment and all other revenue recognition criteria are met. Revenue attributable to these term licenses is reported as “upfront license revenue” in the statement of operations. For term licenses in which less than 75% of the term license fee is due within one year from shipment, we recognize revenue as customer installments become due and payable. Such revenue is reported as “time-based license revenue” in the statement of operations.
- Perpetual Licenses. We recognize revenue from perpetual licenses in full upon shipment of the software if payment terms require the customer to pay at least 75% of the perpetual license fee within one year from shipment and all other revenue recognition criteria are met. Revenue attributable to these perpetual licenses is reported as “upfront license revenue” in the statement of operations. For perpetual licenses in which less than 75% of the license fee is payable within one year from shipment, we recognize the revenue as customer installments become due and payable. Revenue attributable to these perpetual licenses is reported as “time-based license revenue” in the statement of operations.

In addition, we recognize revenue from maintenance fees associated with term and perpetual licenses ratably over the maintenance period to the extent cash has been received and recognize revenue from professional service and training fees as such services are performed and accepted by the customer. Revenue attributable to maintenance, professional services and training is reported as “maintenance and service revenue” in the statement of operations.

Our determination of fair value of each element in multiple element arrangements is based on vendor-specific objective evidence (VSOE). We limit our assessment of VSOE of fair value for each element to the price charged when such element is sold separately.

We have analyzed all of the elements included in our multiple-element software arrangements and have determined that we have sufficient VSOE to allocate revenue to the maintenance components of our perpetual and term license products and to professional services. Accordingly, assuming all other revenue recognition criteria are met, we recognize license revenue from perpetual and term licenses upon delivery using the residual method, we recognize revenue from maintenance ratably over the maintenance term, and we recognize revenue from professional services as the related services are performed and accepted. We recognize revenue from TSLs ratably over the term of the license, assuming all other revenue recognition criteria are met, since there is not sufficient VSOE to allocate the TSL fee between license and maintenance services.

We make significant judgments related to revenue recognition. Specifically, in connection with each transaction involving our products, we must evaluate whether: (1) persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists, (2) delivery of software or services has occurred, (3) the fee for such software or services is fixed or determinable, and (4) collectibility of the full license or service fee is probable. All four of these criteria must be met in order for us to recognize revenue with respect to a particular arrangement. We apply these revenue recognition criteria as follows:

- Persuasive Evidence of an Arrangement Exists. Prior to recognizing revenue on an arrangement, our customary policy is to have a written contract, signed by both the customer and us or a purchase order from those customers that have previously negotiated a standard end-user license arrangement or purchase agreement.

- Delivery Has Occurred. We deliver our products to our customers electronically or physically. For electronic deliveries, delivery occurs when we provide the customer access codes, or “license keys,” that allow the customer to take immediate possession of the software by downloading it to the customer’s hardware. For physical deliveries, the standard transfer terms are typically FOB shipping point. We generally ship our products or license keys promptly after acceptance of customer orders. However, a number of factors can affect the timing of product shipments and, as a result, timing of revenue recognition, including the delivery dates requested by customers and our operational capacity to fulfill product orders at the end of a quarter.
- The Fee is Fixed or Determinable. Our determination that an arrangement fee is fixed or determinable depends principally on the arrangement’s payment terms. Our standard payment terms for perpetual and term licenses require 75% or more of the license fee to be paid within one year. If the arrangement includes these terms, we regard the fee as fixed or determinable, and recognize all license revenue under the arrangement in full upon delivery (assuming all other revenue recognition criteria are met). If the arrangement does not include these terms, we do not consider the fee to be fixed or determinable and generally recognize revenue when customer installments are due and payable. In the case of a TSL, we recognize revenue ratably even if the fee is fixed or determinable, due to the fact that VSOE for maintenance services does not exist for a TSL and due to revenue recognition criteria relating to arrangements that include rights to exchange products or receive unspecified future technology.
- Collectibility is Probable. We judge collectibility of the arrangement fees on a customer-by-customer basis pursuant to our credit review policy. We typically sell to customers with whom we have a history of successful collection. For a new customer, or when an existing customer substantially expands its commitments to us, we evaluate the customer’s financial position and ability to pay and typically assign a credit limit based on that review. We increase the credit limit only after we have established a successful collection history with the customer. If we determine at any time that collectibility is not probable under a particular arrangement based upon our credit review process or the customer’s payment history, we recognize revenue under that arrangement as customer payments are actually received.

Income Taxes. We calculate our current and deferred tax provisions in accordance with SFAS No. 109, Accounting for Income Taxes (SFAS 109). Our estimates and assumptions used in such provisions may differ from the actual results as reflected in our income tax returns and we record the required adjustments when they are identified and resolved.

We adopted FASB Interpretation No. 48, Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes — an interpretation of FASB Statement No. 109 (FIN 48) and FASB Staff Position No. 48-1 (FSP FIN 48-1) in the first quarter of fiscal 2008. The interpretation contains a two-step approach to recognizing and measuring uncertain tax positions accounted for in accordance with SFAS 109. The first step is to evaluate the tax position for recognition by determining whether it is more likely than not that the position will be sustained on audit, including resolution of related appeals or litigation processes, if any. The second step is to measure the tax benefit as the largest amount which is more than 50% likely of being realized upon ultimate settlement. In May 2007, the FASB issued FSP FIN 48-1 which amended FIN 48 to provide guidance about how an enterprise should determine whether a tax position is effectively settled for the purpose of recognizing previously unrecognized tax benefits. Under FSP FIN 48-1, a tax position could be effectively settled on completion of an examination by a taxing authority if certain other conditions are satisfied.

We recognize deferred tax assets and liabilities for the temporary differences between the book and tax bases of assets and liabilities using enacted tax rates in effect for the year in which we expect the differences to reverse. We record a valuation allowance to reduce the deferred tax assets to the amount that is more likely than not to be realized. In evaluating our ability to utilize our deferred tax assets, we consider all available positive and negative evidence, including our past operating results, the existence of cumulative losses in the most recent fiscal years and our forecast of future taxable income on a jurisdiction by jurisdiction basis, as well as feasible and prudent tax planning strategies. These assumptions require significant judgment about the forecasts of future taxable income and are consistent with the plans and estimates we are using to manage the underlying businesses. We believe that the net deferred tax assets of approximately $248 million that are recorded on our balance sheet will ultimately be realized. However, if we determine in the future that it is more likely than not we will not be able to realize a portion or the full amount of deferred tax assets, we would record an adjustment to the deferred tax asset valuation allowance as a charge to earnings in the period such determination is made.

Included in our net deferred tax assets are federal foreign tax credits of approximately $65 million, of which approximately $60 million will expire from fiscal 2013 through 2017. Foreign tax credits can only be carried forward ten years, unlike net operating loss and federal research credit carryforwards that have a twenty year carryforward period. Our ability to utilize foreign tax credits is dependent upon having sufficient foreign source income during the carryforward period. Our ability to maintain the deferred tax credit requires significant judgment in forecasting our future foreign source income. We recorded a valuation allowance of $14.6 million this quarter with respect to our foreign tax credit carryforward.

We have capital loss carryforwards of approximately $17.8 million resulting in a $7.1 million deferred tax asset which will expire in fiscal years 2010 through 2013 if not utilized to offset capital gain net income. Federal capital losses can only be carried forward five years. We have provided a valuation allowance on the tax benefit of such losses to the extent they are not expected to be used to offset capital gain net income.

We have not provided taxes for undistributed earnings of our foreign subsidiaries (except for certain acquired subsidiaries that we plan to liquidate or dissolve) because we plan to reinvest such earnings indefinitely outside the United States. If the cumulative foreign earnings exceed the amount we intend to reinvest in foreign countries in the future, we would provide for taxes on such excess amount.

In addition, the calculation of tax liabilities involves the inherent uncertainty associated with the application of complex tax laws. We are also subject to examination by various taxing authorities. We believe we have adequately provided in our financial statements for potential additional taxes. If we ultimately determine that payment of these amounts is unnecessary, we would reverse the liability and recognize the tax benefit in the period in which we determine that the liability is no longer necessary. If an ultimate tax assessment exceeds our estimate of tax liabilities, we would record an additional charge to earnings. See Part II, Item 1A. Risk Factors — We have received a Revenue Agent's Report from the Internal Revenue Service claiming a significant increase in our U.S. taxable income. An adverse outcome could have an adverse effect on our results of operations and financial condition, below, and note the section below entitled IRS Examinations for a discussion of a Revenue Agent's Report from the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) we received in July 2008 asserting a significant net increase to our U.S. tax arising from the audit of fiscal years 2002 through 2004.

Results of Operations

Every seven years we have one extra week in our fiscal year that occurs in our first quarter. The first three months of fiscal 2007 contained that extra week and accordingly this year's first three months did not include the additional week. The extra week in the first quarter of fiscal 2007 attributed to approximately $18.7 million of additional revenues related primarily to time-based licenses and approximately $17.2 million of additional expenses as discussed in cost of revenue and operating expenses below.

Revenue Background

We generate our revenue from the sale of software licenses, maintenance and professional services. Under current accounting rules and policies, we recognize revenue from orders we receive for software licenses and services at varying times. In most instances, we recognize revenue on a TSL software license order over the license term and on a term or perpetual software license order in the quarter in which the license is shipped. Substantially all of our current time-based licenses are TSLs with an average license term of approximately three years. Maintenance orders normally bring in revenue ratably over the maintenance period (normally one year). Professional service orders generally turn into revenue upon completion and customer acceptance of contractually agreed milestones. A more complete description of our revenue recognition policy can be found above under Critical Accounting Policies and Estimates.

Our revenue in any fiscal quarter is equal to the sum of our time-based license, upfront license, maintenance and professional service revenue for the period. We derive time-based license revenue in any quarter largely from TSL orders received and delivered in prior quarters. We derive upfront license revenue directly from term and perpetual license orders mostly booked and shipped during the quarter. We derive maintenance revenue in any quarter largely from maintenance orders received in prior quarters since our maintenance orders generally yield revenue ratably over a term of one year. We also derive professional service revenue primarily from orders received in prior quarters, since we recognize revenue from professional services when those services are delivered and accepted, not when they are booked.

Our license revenue is sensitive to the mix of TSLs and perpetual or term licenses delivered during a reporting period. A TSL order typically yields lower current quarter revenue but contributes to revenue in future periods. For example, a $120,000 order for a three-year TSL shipped on the last day of a quarter typically generates no revenue in that quarter, but $10,000 in each of the twelve succeeding quarters. Conversely, perpetual licenses and term licenses with greater than 75% of the license fee due within one year from shipment typically generate current quarter revenue but no future revenue (e.g., a $120,000 order for a perpetual license generates $120,000 in revenue in the quarter the product is shipped, but no future revenue).

Percentage of total revenue	85%	83%

The increase in total revenue and time-based license revenue for the three and nine months ended July 31, 2008 compared to the same periods of fiscal 2007 was primarily due to prior period bookings leading to increased current period time-based license revenue. For the nine months ended July 31, 2008, the increase in time-based license revenue was partially offset by the first quarter of fiscal 2008 having one less week of revenues of approximately $17.2 million compared to the same period in fiscal 2007.

Percentage of total revenue	5%	5%

The increase in upfront license revenue in the three months ended July 31, 2008 was primarily due to the sale of products inherited from the Synplicity acquisition completed in May 2008.

The decrease in upfront license revenue for the nine months ended July 31, 2008 compared with the same period of fiscal 2007, reflected normal fluctuations in customer license requirements which can impact the amount of upfront orders in a particular quarter. The decrease was partially offset by the increase in the new product sales as a result of the Synplicity acquisition.

Table of Contents

Our maintenance revenue in the three and nine months ended July 31, 2008 compared with the same periods in fiscal 2007 has declined primarily due to (1) our completed shift towards TSLs, which include maintenance with the license fee and thus generate no separately recognized maintenance revenue, and (2) the first quarter of fiscal 2008 having one less week of revenues, resulting in a decrease in revenue of approximately $1.5 million compared to the same period in fiscal 2007. Some customers may choose in the future not to renew maintenance on upfront licenses for economic or other factors, adversely affecting future maintenance revenue.

Professional services and other revenue increased in the three and nine months ended July 31, 2008 compared to the same periods in fiscal 2007 due principally to timing of customer acceptance of services performed under ongoing contracts.

Events Affecting Cost of Revenues and Operating Expenses

Functional Allocation of Operating Expenses. We allocate certain human resource programs, information technology and facility expenses among our functional income statement categories based on headcount within each functional area. Annually, or upon a significant change in headcount (such as a workforce reduction, realignment or acquisition) or other factors, management reviews the allocation methodology and the expenses included in the allocation pool.

We divide cost of revenue into three categories: cost of license revenue, cost of maintenance and service revenue, and amortization of intangible assets. Expenses directly associated with providing consulting and training are allocated between cost of license revenue and cost of maintenance and service revenue based on license and service revenue reported.

Cost of license revenue. Cost of license revenue includes costs associated with our software product sales as well as our materials costs associated with our hardware products. Additionally, cost of license revenue also includes allocated costs of license delivery, such as employee salaries and benefits related to software delivery, software production costs, product packaging, amortization of capitalized software development costs, documentation and royalties to third party vendors.

Cost of maintenance and service revenue. Cost of maintenance and service revenue includes employee salary and benefits for consulting professionals and associated costs to maintain the infrastructure necessary to operate our services and training organization. Further, cost of maintenance and service revenue also includes allocated costs which provide post customer contract services, such as employee salary and benefits related to customer services, such as hotline and on-site support, production services and documentation of maintenance updates.

Amortization of intangible assets. Amortization of intangible assets, which is amortized to cost of revenue and operating expenses, includes the amortization of the contract rights associated with certain executory contracts and the amortization of core/developed technology, trademarks, tradenames, customer relationships, covenants not to compete and other intangibles related to acquisitions completed in prior years.

Cost of revenue as a percentage of total revenue was flat for the third quarter of fiscal 2008 compared with the same period in fiscal 2007. The increase in cost of revenue for the three months ended July 31, 2008 compared with the same period in fiscal 2007 was primarily due to (1) an increase of $6.3 million in personnel-related costs as a result of head count increases to support our revenue growth, including additional employees from the Synplicity acquisition, and (2) an increase of $1.1 million in other direct costs including material costs on our hardware products. Functionally allocated expenses were relatively flat for the three months ended July 31, 2008 compared with same period in fiscal 2007.

Cost of revenue as a percentage of total revenue increased by 1% for the first nine months of fiscal 2008 compared with the same period in fiscal 2007. The increase in cost of revenue for the nine months ended July 31, 2008 was primarily due to (1) an increase of $18.7 million in personnel-related costs as a result of headcount increases, (2) an increase of $3.7 million in functionally allocated expenses, and (3) an increase of $2.3 million in travel and consulting expense related to our professional services compared to the same period in fiscal 2007. The increase was partially offset by one less week of costs of approximately $3.6 million in the first quarter of fiscal 2008 compared with the same period in fiscal 2007.

Nine months ended	$ 292.2	$ 282.2	$ 10.0	4%
Percentage of total revenue	30%	31%

Research and development expense as a percentage of total revenue decreased by 1% for the three and nine-months ended July 31, 2008 compared with the same periods in fiscal 2007.

For the three months ended July 31, 2008, the increase in research and development expense was primarily due to (1) an increase of $7.9 million in personnel-related costs of which approximately 44% related to increased headcounts from the Synplicity acquisition, and (2) $2.4 million in functionally allocated expenses compared to the same period in fiscal 2007.

For the nine months ended July 31, 2008, the increase in research and development expense was minimal and was primarily due to (1) an increase of $14.1 million in employee personnel related costs as a result of headcount increases including new employees from our recent acquisition, (2) an increase of $6.7 million in functionally allocated expenses compared to the same period in fiscal 2007; partially offset by the absence of a $3.1 million earn-out/retention bonus related to a prior year acquisition, as well as by one extra week of expenses incurred in the first nine months of fiscal 2007 for approximately $6.6 million.

Sales and Marketing

Percentage of total revenue	25%	31%
Nine months ended	$ 247.1	$ 264.2	$ (17.2)	(6)%
Percentage of total revenue	25%	29%

Sales and marketing expense as a percentage of total revenue decreased by 6% and 4% for the three and nine-months ended July 31, 2008, respectively, compared with the same periods in fiscal 2007.

For the three months ended July 31, 2008, the decrease in sales and marketing expense was primarily due to a decrease of $13.8 million in variable compensation as a result of the absence of a large order shipped compared to the same period in fiscal 2007. The decrease was partially offset by (1) an increase of $3.3 million in employee salary and benefits as a result of increased headcount from the Synplicity acquisition, and (2) an increase of $2.1 million in travel and communication expenses due to major marketing events incurred in third quarter of 2008.

For the nine months ended July 31, 2008, the decrease in sales and marketing expense was primarily due to (1) a decrease of $16.0 million in variable compensation, primarily as a result of a large order shipped in the third quarter of fiscal 2007, and (2) one less week of expenses of approximately $5.4 million in the first quarter of fiscal 2008 compared to the same period in fiscal 2007. The decrease was partially offset by an increase of $4.0 million in employee, travel and communication related expenses.

Nine months ended	$ 76.5	$ 76.4	$ 0.1	—%
Percentage of total revenue	8%	8%

General and administrative expense as a percentage of total revenue was flat for the three and nine-months ended July 31, 2008 compared with the same periods in fiscal 2007.

For the three months ended July 31, 2008, the increase in general and administrative expense was primarily due to an increase of $2.3 million in employee related costs mostly from new employees of the Synplicity acquisition and increased headcounts over the prior quarters to support the growth of our business, compared to the same period in fiscal 2007.

For the nine months ended July 31, 2008, general and administrative expense increased by $0.1 million primarily due to (1) an absence of $4.3 million gain for a land sale completed during fiscal 2007 and recorded as an offset to expense under this line, (2) an increase of approximately $3.1 million for personnel related expenses, and (3) an increase in communication expenses of $2.5 million. The increase was partially offset by (1) a decrease of $6.0 million in professional services such as legal expenses, and (2) one less week of expenses of approximately $1.5 million in the first quarter of fiscal 2008 compared to the same period in fiscal 2007.

In Process Research and Development.

In-process research and development (IPRD) expense is comprised of in-process technologies of $4.8 million associated with the acquisition of Synplicity and $2.1 million associated with the acquisition of ArchPro in the three and nine months of fiscal 2008 and 2007, respectively. Synplicity had four primary projects in process at the time of acquisition — FPGA, ASIC Verification, DSP, and HAPS which will be completed over a period of one to two years. At the date of each acquisition, the projects associated with the IPRD efforts had not yet reached technological feasibility and the research and development in process had no alternative future uses. Accordingly, these amounts were charged to expense on the respective acquisition date of each of the acquired companies.

Amortization of Intangible Assets

Amortization of intangible assets includes the amortization of the contract rights associated with certain executory contracts and the amortization of core/developed technology, trademarks, tradenames, customer relationships, covenants not to compete and other intangibles related to acquisitions completed in prior years and in the three and nine months ended July 31, 2008. Amortization expense is included in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations as follows:

For the three and nine months ended July 31, 2008, the decrease was primarily due to certain intangible assets acquired in prior years being fully amortized. See Note 6 to Notes to Unaudited Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for a schedule of future amortization amounts.

Other income, net decreased in the three and nine months ended July 31, 2008, compared to the same period in fiscal 2007 primarily due to a $12.5 million litigation settlement payment from Magma Design Automation, Inc. in fiscal 2007 and the fair market value fluctuations of investments in our deferred compensation plan.

Income Tax Rate

Effective Tax Rate

We estimate our annual effective tax rate at the end of each quarterly period. Our estimate takes into account estimations of annual pre-tax income (loss), the geographic mix of pre-tax income (loss) and our interpretations of tax laws and possible outcomes of audits.

The following table presents the provision for income taxes and the effective tax rates for the three and nine months ended July 31, 2008 and 2007:

	Three Months Ended July 31,		Nine Months Ended July 31,
	2008	2007	2008	2007
(dollars in millions)
Income before income taxes	$ 53.0	$ 33.8	$ 163.2	$ 118.6
(Benefit) provision for income tax	$ (4.8)	$ 9.0	$ 19.7	$ 29.1
Effective tax rate	(9.0)%	26.5%	12.0%	24.6%

Our effective tax rate for the three and nine months ended July 31, 2008 is lower than the statutory federal income tax rate of 35% primarily due to reaching a favorable final resolution on transfer pricing issues related to the 2000-2001 IRS examination, the tax impact of non-U.S. operations, which are taxed at lower rates, and research and development credits partially offset by state taxes, non-deductible share-based compensation and in-process research & development charges. The effective tax rate decreased in the three months and nine months ended July 31, 2008, as compared to the same periods in fiscal 2007, primarily due to a favorable final resolution on transfer pricing issues related to the 2000-2001 IRS examination and additional research credits claimed on our 2007 federal and state tax returns.

Adoption of FIN 48

In June 2006, the FASB issued FASB Interpretation No. 48, Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes—an interpretation of FASB Statement No. 109 (FIN 48). The interpretation contains a two-step approach to recognize and measure uncertain tax positions accounted for in accordance with SFAS 109. The first step is to evaluate the tax position for recognition by determining whether it is more likely than not that the position will be sustained on audit, including resolution of related appeals or litigation processes, if any. The second step is to measure the tax benefit as the largest amount which is more than 50% likely of being realized upon ultimate settlement. In May 2007, the FASB issued FSP FIN 48-1, which amended FIN 48 to provide guidance about how an enterprise should determine whether a tax position is effectively settled for the purpose of recognizing previously unrecognized tax benefits. Under FSP FIN 48-1, a tax position could be effectively settled on completion of an examination by a taxing authority if certain other conditions are satisfied.

We adopted FIN 48 and FSP FIN 48-1 in the first quarter of fiscal 2008 and recognized the cumulative effect of a change in accounting principle by recognizing a decrease in the liability for unrecognized tax benefits of $5.0 million, with a corresponding increase to beginning retained earnings. We also recognized an additional decrease in the liability for unrecognized tax benefits related to employee stock options of $9.7 million of which $7.7 million increased beginning paid-in capital with the remaining $2.0 million off-setting existing deferred tax assets. The total liability for gross unrecognized tax benefits was $207.3 and $181.5 million on November 1, 2007 and July 31, 2008, respectively, of which $124.7 and $76.6 million would affect our effective tax rate if recognized upon resolution of the related uncertain tax position. The liability for unrecognized tax benefits decreased $16.2 million and $25.8 million during the three and nine months ended July 31, 2008, respectively, primarily due to the final resolution on transfer pricing issues related to the 2000-2001 IRS examination, partially offset by acquisition related unrecognized tax benefits.

Interest and penalties related to estimated obligations for tax positions taken in our tax returns are recognized as a component of income tax expense in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations. As of November 1, 2007, the combined amount of accrued interest and penalties related to tax positions taken on our tax returns was approximately $10.3 million. The accrued interest and penalties decreased by approximately $2.5 and $5.4 million during the three and nine months ended July 31, 2008. Prior to fiscal 2008, we presented our estimated liability for unrecognized tax benefits as a current liability. FIN 48 requires liabilities for unrecognized tax benefits to be classified based on whether it is expected payment will be made within the next 12 months. Amounts expected to be paid within the next 12 months are classified as current liabilities and all other amounts are classified as non-current liabilities or offset against a directly related deferred tax asset or income tax receivable. In addition, we have historically recorded state, local and interest liabilities net of the estimated benefit we expect to receive from deducting such payments on future tax returns (i.e., on a "net" basis). FIN 48 requires this estimated benefit to be classified as a deferred tax asset instead of a reduction of the overall liability (i.e., on a "gross" basis).

We file income tax returns in the U.S., including various state and local jurisdictions. Our subsidiaries file tax returns in various foreign jurisdictions, including Ireland, Hungary, Taiwan and Japan. We remain subject to income tax examinations in the U.S. for fiscal years after 1999, in Hungary and Taiwan for fiscal years after 2005, in Ireland for fiscal years after 2002 and in Japan for fiscal years after 2004. See IRS Examinations, below for the status of our current federal income tax audits.

The timing of the resolution of income tax examinations is highly uncertain as to the amounts and timing of various tax payments as part of the settlement process. This could cause large fluctuations in the balance sheet classification of current and non-current assets and liabilities. We believe that before the end of fiscal 2008, it is reasonably possible that the statute of limitations on certain state and foreign income and withholding taxes will expire. Given the uncertainty as to ultimate settlement terms, the timing of payment and the impact of such settlements on other uncertain tax positions, the range of the estimated potential decrease in underlying unrecognized tax benefits is between $0 and $13 million.

IRS Examinations

Fiscal years 2000-2001

On June 8, 2005, we received a Revenue Agent's Report (RAR) in which the IRS proposed to assess a net tax deficiency for fiscal years 2000 and 2001 of approximately $476.8 million, plus interest. This proposed adjustment primarily related to transfer pricing transactions between Synopsys and a wholly owned foreign subsidiary. On July 13, 2005, we filed a protest to the proposed deficiency with the IRS, which caused the matter to be referred to the Appeals Office of the IRS. On June 30, 2008, the IRS and Synopsys executed a final Closing Agreement pursuant to which substantially all of the proposed assessment was eliminated.

As a result of the final resolution of the transfer pricing issue, we decreased our FIN 48 liabilities by $41.0 million in the third quarter of 2008, including interest accrued of $2.8 million. Concurrently, we evaluated our ability to use certain foreign tax credit carryovers which have been recorded as noncurrent deferred tax assets in its balance sheet, a portion of which may have been available to offset the FIN 48 liability. We concluded that it was no longer more likely than not that $14.6 million of our foreign tax credits will be used prior to the expiration of the carryover period, and recorded a valuation allowance for this amount. Accordingly, our provision for income taxes shows an income tax benefit (net of decreases in related deferred tax assets) of $17.3 million as a result of the 2000-2001 IRS settlement.

Cash provided by operating activities. Cash provided by operations is dependent primarily upon the payment terms of our license agreements. To be classified as upfront revenue, we require that 75% of a term or perpetual license fee be paid within the first year. Conversely, payment terms for TSLs are generally extended and the license fee is typically paid either quarterly or annually in even increments over the term of the license. Accordingly, we generally receive cash from upfront license revenue much sooner than from time-based license revenue.

Cash from operating activities decreased primarily as a result of a litigation settlement of $12.5 million received from Magma Design Automation, Inc. during fiscal 2007, higher payments to vendors and due to the timing of billings and cash payments from customers compared to the same period in fiscal 2007, delivering lower cash inflows during fiscal 2008.

Cash used in investing activities. The decrease in cash used in investing activities primarily relates to the sale of marketable securities for our acquisition of Synplicity, offset by our capital expenditures to support our information technology infrastructure.

Cash (used in) provided by financing activities. The increase in cash used primarily relates to larger common stock repurchases under our stock repurchase program and a lower number of employee option exercises compared to the same period in fiscal 2007. See Note 4 of Notes to Unaudited Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for details of our stock repurchase program.

We hold our cash, cash equivalents and short-term investments in the United States and in foreign accounts, primarily in Ireland, Bermuda, Hungary and Japan. As of July 31, 2008, we held an aggregate of $504.5 million in cash, cash equivalents and short-term investments in the United States and an aggregate of $372.6 million in foreign accounts. Funds in foreign accounts are generated from revenue outside North America. At present, such foreign funds are considered to be indefinitely reinvested in foreign countries.

We expect that cash provided by operating activities may fluctuate in future periods as a result of a number of factors, including fluctuations in the timing of our billings and collections, our operating results, the timing and amount of tax and other liability payments and cash used in any future acquisitions.

Accounts Receivable, net

July 31, 2008	October 31, 2007	Dollar Change	% Change

Our accounts receivable and Days Sales Outstanding (DSO) are primarily driven by our billing and collections activities. Our DSO was 38 days at July 31, 2008 and 36 days at October 31, 2007. The increase in DSO, along with an increase in accounts receivable balance, primarily relates to timing of our billings and collections.

Net Working Capital.

Working capital is comprised of current assets less current liabilities, as shown on our unaudited condensed consolidated balance sheets. As of July 31, 2008, our net working capital was $408.1 million, compared to $296.5 million as of October 31, 2007. The increase of $111.6 million was primarily due to (1) an increase in accounts receivable of $19.7 million, (2) an increase in income taxes receivable of $8.7 million, (3) increase in prepaid and other expenses of $7.3 million, (4) a reclassification from income taxes payable of $197.3 million to long-term income tax payable upon adoption of FIN 48, (5) an additional decrease in income taxes payable of $8.4 million, and (6) a decrease of $5.5 million in accounts payable and accrued liabilities. This increase was partially offset by (1) a decrease in cash, cash equivalents and short-term investments of $107.4 million, (2) a decrease in current deferred income tax asset of $1.7 million, and (3) an increase in deferred revenue of $26.2 million.

Other Commitments—Revolving Credit Facility. On October 20, 2006, we entered into a five-year, $300.0 million senior unsecured revolving credit facility providing for loans to Synopsys and certain of our foreign subsidiaries. The amount of the facility may be increased by up to an additional $150.0 million through the fourth year of the facility. The facility contains financial covenants requiring us to maintain a minimum leverage ratio and specified levels of cash, as well as other non-financial covenants. The facility terminates on October 20, 2011. Borrowings under the facility bear interest at the greater of the administrative agent's prime rate or the federal funds rate plus 0.50%; however, we have the option to pay interest based on the outstanding amount at Eurodollar rates plus a spread between 0.50% and 0.70% based on a pricing grid tied to a financial covenant. In addition, commitment fees are payable on the facility at rates between 0.125% and 0.175% per year based on a pricing grid tied to a financial covenant. As of July 31, 2008, we had no outstanding borrowings under this credit facility and were in compliance with all covenants.

Other

Our cash equivalent and short-term investment portfolio as of July 31, 2008 consists of investment grade municipal bonds, tax-exempt money market mutual funds and taxable money market mutual funds. We follow an established investment policy and set of guidelines to monitor, manage and limit our exposure to interest rate and credit risk. The policy sets forth credit quality standards and limits our exposure to any one issuer. As a result of current adverse financial market conditions, some financial instruments, such as structured investment vehicles, sub-prime mortgage-backed securities and collateralized debt obligations, may pose risks arising from liquidity and credit concerns. As of July 31, 2008, we had no direct holdings in these categories of investments and our exposure to these financial instruments through our indirect holdings in money market mutual funds was less than 1% of total cash, cash equivalents and short-term investments, which we do not consider to be material. During the nine months ended July 31, 2008, we had no impairment charge associated with our short-term investment portfolio. While we cannot predict future market conditions or market liquidity, we have taken steps, including regularly reviewing our investments and associated risk profiles, which we believe will allow us to effectively manage the risks of our investment portfolio.

We believe that our current cash, cash equivalents, short-term investments, cash generated from operations, and available credit under our credit facility will satisfy our business requirements for at least the next twelve months.

ITEM 3. QUANTITATIVE AND QUALITATIVE DISCLOSURES ABOUT MARKET RISK

Our exposure to market risk has not changed materially since October 31, 2007. The average yield at purchase for our short-term investment portfolio remains less than 1% change from the average yield as of October 31, 2007. For more information regarding our financial market risks related to changes in interest rates and foreign currency exchange rates, reference is made to Item 7A Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosure About Market Risk contained in Part II of our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended October 31, 2007.

ITEM 4. CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES

- (a) Evaluation of Disclosure Controls and Procedures. As of July 31, 2008 (the Evaluation Date), Synopsys carried out an evaluation under the supervision and with the participation of Synopsys' management, including the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, of the effectiveness of the design and operation of Synopsys' disclosure controls and procedures (as such term is defined in Rules 13a-15(e) and 15d-15(e) under the Exchange Act). There are inherent limitations to the effectiveness of any system of disclosure controls and procedures. Accordingly, even effective disclosure controls and procedures can only provide reasonable, not absolute, assurance of achieving their control objectives. Nonetheless, our Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer have concluded that, as of July 31, 2008, (1) Synopsys' disclosure controls and procedures were designed to provide reasonable assurance of achieving their objectives, and (2) Synopsys' disclosure controls and procedures were effective to provide reasonable assurance that information required to be disclosed in the reports Synopsys files and submits under the Exchange Act is recorded, processed, summarized and reported as and when required, and that such information is accumulated and communicated to Synopsys' management, including the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, to allow timely decisions regarding its required disclosure.
- (b) Changes in Internal Controls. There were no changes in Synopsys' internal control over financial reporting during the three months ended July 31, 2008 that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, Synopsys' internal control over financial reporting.

PART II. OTHER INFORMATION

ITEM 1. LEGAL PROCEEDINGS

IRS Examinations. See IRS Examinations in Note 13 of Notes to Unaudited Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for further information regarding IRS examinations.

Other Proceedings. We are also subject to other routine legal proceedings, as well as demands, claims and threatened litigation, that arise in the normal course of our business. The ultimate outcome of any litigation is uncertain and unfavorable outcomes could have a negative impact on our results of operations and financial condition. Regardless of outcome, litigation can have an adverse impact on Synopsys because of the defense costs, diversion of management resources and other factors.

ITEM 1A. RISK FACTORS

We describe our business risk factors below. This description includes any changes to and supersedes the description of the risk factors associated with our business previously disclosed in Part I, Item 1A of our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended October 31, 2007.

Weakness, budgetary caution or consolidation in the semiconductor and electronics industries may continue to negatively impact our business.

In recent years, we believe that EDA industry growth has been adversely affected by many factors, including ongoing efforts by semiconductor companies to control their spending, uncertainty regarding the long-term growth rate of the semiconductor industry, excess EDA tool capacity of some of our customers and increased competition in the EDA industry itself causing pricing pressure on EDA vendors. If these factors persist or additional semiconductor industry growth does not occur (or if we do not benefit from any such increases), our business, operating results and financial condition will be materially and adversely affected.

We also believe that, over the long term, growth in EDA spending will continue to depend on growth in semiconductor R&D spending and continued growth in the overall semiconductor market. However, we cannot predict the timing or magnitude of growth in semiconductor revenues, R&D spending or spending on EDA products, nor whether we will benefit from any of these increases should they occur. In addition, unfavorable general macroeconomic factors may also affect our customers and in turn our business, operating results and financial condition.

Competition in the EDA industry may have a material adverse effect on our business and financial results.

We compete with other EDA vendors that offer a broad range of products and services, primarily Cadence Design Systems, Inc., Mentor Graphics Corporation and Magma Design Automation, Inc. and with other EDA vendors that offer products focused on one or more discrete phases of the IC design process. We also compete with customers' internally developed design tools and capabilities. If we fail to compete effectively, our business will be materially and adversely affected. We compete principally on technology leadership, product quality and features (including ease-of-use), time-to-results, post-sale support, interoperability with our own and other vendors' products, price and payment terms.

Additional competitive challenges include the following:

- Technology in the EDA industry evolves rapidly. Accordingly, we must correctly anticipate and lead critical developments, innovate rapidly and efficiently, improve our existing products, and successfully develop or acquire new products. If we fail to do so, our business will be materially and adversely affected.
- We believe we are best served by offering products that provide both a high level of integration into a comprehensive platform and a high level of individual product performance. We have invested significant resources into further development of our Galaxy Design Platform, integration of our Discovery Verification Platform and enhancement of its SystemVerilog and other advanced features and development of our Design for Manufacturing and IP portfolios. We can provide no assurance that our customers will find these tool and IP configurations more attractive than our competitors' offerings or that our efforts to balance the interests of integration versus individual product performance will be successful.
- Price continues to be a competitive factor. We believe that some EDA vendors are increasingly offering discounts, which could be significant. If we are unable to match a competitor's pricing for a particular solution, we may lose business, which could have a material adverse effect on our financial condition and results of operations, particularly if the customer chooses to consolidate all or a substantial portion of their other EDA purchases with the competitor.
- Payment terms are also an important competitive factor and are aggressively negotiated by our customers. Payment terms on time-based licenses have generally lengthened over time. Longer payment terms could continue in the future, which would negatively affect our future operating cash flow.
- Potential consolidation of competitors. If any of our competitors consolidate, they may be able to exert even greater competitive pressure by offering a more complete (larger) technology portfolio, a larger support and service capability, or lower prices.

Table of Contents

- Entry or expansion could occur. Despite the complexity of the EDA space, entry and expansion into the EDA space by new or existing companies can and does occur, and could make it more difficult to compete successfully.

Lack of growth in new IC design starts, industry consolidation and other potentially long-term trends may adversely affect the EDA industry, including demand for our products and services.

The increasing complexities of SoCs and ICs, and customers' concerns about managing cost and risk have also led to the following potentially long-term negative trends:

- The number of IC design starts has remained flat during the last three years. New IC design starts are one of the key drivers of demand for EDA software.
- A number of mergers in the semiconductor and electronics industries have occurred and more are likely. Mergers can reduce the aggregate level of purchases of EDA software and services, and in some cases, increase customers' bargaining power in negotiations with their suppliers, including Synopsys.
- Due to factors such as increased globalization, cost controls among customers appear to have become more permanent, adversely impacting our customers' EDA spending.
- Industry changes, plus the cost and complexity of IC design, may be leading some companies in these industries to limit their design activity in general, to focus only on one discrete phase of the design process while outsourcing other aspects of the design, or using Field Programmable Gate Arrays (FPGAs), an alternative chip technology.

All of these trends, if sustained, could have a material adverse effect on the EDA industry, including the demand for our products and services, which in turn would materially and adversely affect our financial condition and results of operations.

Changes in, or interpretations of, accounting principles could result in unfavorable accounting charges or effects, including changes to our prior financial statements, which could cause our stock price to decline.

We prepare our consolidated financial statements in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. These principles are subject to interpretation by the SEC and various bodies formed to interpret and create appropriate accounting principles. A change in these principles, or in our interpretations of these principles, can have a significant effect on our reported results and may retroactively affect previously reported results.

For example, in June 2006, the FASB issued FASB Interpretation No. 48, Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes—an interpretation of FASB Statement No. 109 (FIN 48). FIN 48 addresses recognizing and measuring uncertain tax positions. The interpretation contains a two-step approach to recognizing and measuring uncertain tax positions accounted for in accordance with SFAS 109. The first step is to evaluate the tax position for recognition by determining whether it is more likely than not that the position will be sustained on audit, including resolution of related appeals or litigation processes, if any. The second step is to measure the tax benefit as the largest amount which is more than 50% likely of being realized upon ultimate settlement. Synopsys adopted FIN 48 beginning in the first quarter of fiscal year 2008. Because the determination of whether a position is "more likely than not" is subject to ongoing changes in the interpretation in the tax law, based on published rulings, court cases and outcomes of various tax audits, we may be required to recognize or adjust a tax position in the period in which such changes occur. In addition, measurement of the amount of benefit which is more than 50% likely of being realized involves a great deal of judgment, and may change based on our experience and new or revised authority.

We have received a Revenue Agent's Report from the Internal Revenue Service claiming a significant increase in our U.S. taxable income. An adverse outcome could have an adverse effect on our results of operations and financial condition.

On July 11, 2008, we received a Revenue Agent's Report in which the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) proposed an adjustment that would result in an aggregate tax deficiency for the fiscal years 2002 through 2004 of approximately $236.2 million, $130.5 million of which would be a reduction of certain tax credits that would otherwise be available either as refund claims or to offset taxes due in future periods. In August 2008, we filed a protest to the proposed deficiency with the IRS, which will cause the matter to be referred to the Appeals Office of the IRS. An adverse outcome of this matter could result in significant tax expense and harm our results of operations and financial condition.

Unfavorable tax law changes, an unfavorable government review of our tax returns or changes in our geographical earnings mix or forecasts of foreign source income could adversely affect our effective tax rate and our operating results.

Our operations are subject to income and transaction taxes in the United States and in multiple foreign jurisdictions. A change in the tax law in the jurisdictions in which we do business, including an increase in tax rates or an adverse change in the treatment of an item of income or expense, could result in a material increase in our tax expense.

Our tax filings are subject to review or audit by the IRS and state, local and foreign taxing authorities. We exercise judgment in determining our worldwide provision for income taxes and, in the ordinary course of our business, there may be transactions and calculations where the ultimate tax determination is uncertain. The IRS examinations of our federal tax returns for the years 2000-2001 and 2002-2004 resulted in significant proposed adjustments. Although we believe our tax estimates are reasonable, we can provide no assurance that any final determination in an audit will not be materially different than the treatment reflected in our historical income tax provisions and accruals. An assessment of additional taxes as a result of an audit could adversely affect our income tax provision and net income in the period or periods for which that determination is made.

We have large operations both in the United States and in multiple foreign jurisdictions with a wide range of statutory tax rates. Certain foreign operations are subject to temporary favorable foreign tax rates. Therefore, any changes in our geographical earning mix in various tax jurisdictions, including those resulting from transfer pricing adjustments and expiration of foreign tax rulings, could materially increase our effective tax rate. Furthermore, we maintain deferred tax assets related to federal foreign tax credits and our ability to use these credits is dependent upon having sufficient future foreign source income in the United States. Changes in our forecasts of such future foreign source income could result in an adjustment to the deferred tax asset and a related charge to earnings which could materially affect our financial results.

Our revenue and earnings fluctuate, which could cause our financial results to not meet expectations and our stock price to decline.

Many factors affect our revenue and earnings, including customer demand, license mix, the timing of revenue recognition on products and services sold and committed expense levels, making it difficult to predict revenue and earnings for any given fiscal period. Accordingly, stockholders should not view our historical results as necessarily indicative of our future performance.

From time to time, we provide guidance related to our future financial performance. In addition, financial analysts publish their own expectations of our future financial performance. Because our quarterly revenue and our operating results fluctuate, future financial performance is difficult to predict. Downward adjustments of our guidance or the failure to meet our guidance or the expectations of research analysts would cause the market price of our common stock to decline.

Some of the specific factors that could affect our revenue and earnings in a particular quarter or over several fiscal periods include, but are not limited to:

- We base our operating expenses in part on our expectations for future revenue and generally must commit to expense levels in advance of revenue being recognized. Since only a small portion of our expenses varies with revenue, any revenue shortfall typically causes a direct reduction in net income.
- Our revenue and earnings targets over a number of fiscal periods assume a certain level of orders and a certain mix between upfront and time-based licenses. The amount of orders received and changes in the mix due to factors such as the level of overall license orders, customer demand, customer payment terms and ship dates could have a material adverse effect on our revenue and earnings. For example, if we ship more upfront licenses than expected during any given fiscal period, our revenue and earnings for that period could be above our targets even if orders are below target; conversely, if we ship fewer upfront licenses than expected, our revenue and earnings for that period could fall below our targets even if orders meet or even exceed our target. Similarly, if we receive a lower-than-expected level of time-based license orders during a given period, our revenue in future periods could be negatively affected.
- We may be required to implement a number of cost control measures in order to meet our externally-communicated financial targets, any of which could fail to result in the anticipated cost savings or could adversely affect our business. For example, we have outsourced certain internal functions that may not realize expected cost savings.
- The market for EDA products is dynamic and depends on a number of factors including consumer demand for our customers' products, customer R&D and EDA tool budgets, pricing, our competitors' product offerings and customer design starts. It is difficult to predict in advance the effect of these and other factors on our customers' demand for our products on a medium or long term basis. As a result, actual future customer purchases could differ materially from our forecasts which, in turn, could cause our actual revenue to be materially different than our publicly-disclosed targets.

- We often amend our contracts with our customers to extend the term or add new products. Although these amendments can provide a longer-term payment stream from the customers, they can also result in a lower amount of revenue being recognized per year than under the original arrangement even if the total value of the extended contract is larger.
- Certain of our upfront and time-based license agreements provide customers the right to re-mix a portion of the software initially subject to the license for other specified Synopsys products. While this practice helps assure the customer's access to the complete design flow needed to manufacture its product, use of these arrangements could result in reduced revenue compared to licensing the individual tools separately.
- In the past, we have regularly received a significant proportion of our orders for a given quarter in the last one or two weeks of the quarter. The delay of one or more orders, particularly an upfront order, could have a material adverse effect on our revenue and/or earnings for that quarter.
- A large portion of our revenue is derived from a small number of customers. While our agreements with such customers are binding multi-year agreements, if we were to lose these customers or if they did not renew their agreements with us, our financial results could be adversely affected over time.
- We make significant judgments relating to revenue recognition, specifically determining the existence of proper documentation, establishing that the fee is fixed or determinable, verifying delivery of our software and assessing the creditworthiness of our customers. While we believe our judgments in these areas are reasonable, there can be no assurance that such judgments will not be challenged in the future. In such an event, we could be required to reduce the amount of revenue we have recognized in prior periods, which would have an adverse impact on our reported results of operations for those periods.
- Our customers spend a great deal of time reviewing and testing our products, either alone or against competing products, before making a purchase decision. Accordingly, our customers' evaluation and purchase cycles may not match our fiscal quarters. Further, sales of our products and services may be delayed if customers delay project approvals or starts because of budgetary constraints or their budget cycles.

The failure to meet the semiconductor industry's demands for advancing EDA technology and continued cost reductions may adversely affect our financial results.

SoC and IC functionality continues to increase while feature widths decrease, substantially increasing the complexity, cost and risk of IC design and manufacturing. To address greater complexity, semiconductor designers and manufacturers demand continuous innovation from EDA suppliers. At the same time, as a general business trend, we believe some customers and potential customers are seeking to buy more products from fewer suppliers and at reduced overall prices in an effort to reduce overall cost and risk. In order to succeed in this environment, we must successfully meet our customers' technology requirements, while also striving to reduce their overall costs and our own operating costs. Failure to manage these conflicting demands successfully would materially and adversely affect our financial condition and results of operations.

Customer payment defaults or related issues could adversely affect our financial condition and results of operations.

Our backlog consists principally of customer payment obligations not yet due that are attributable to software we have already delivered. These customer obligations are typically not cancelable, but will not yield the expected revenue and cash flow if the customer defaults or declares bankruptcy and fails to pay amounts owed. In these cases, we will generally take legal action to recover amounts owed. Moreover, existing customers may seek to renegotiate pre-existing contractual commitments due to adverse changes in their own businesses. Though we have not, to date, experienced a material level of defaults, any material payment default by our customers or significant reductions in existing contractual commitments would have a material adverse effect on our financial condition and results of operations.

Table of Contents

Businesses we have acquired or that we may acquire in the future may not perform as we project.

We have acquired a number of companies or their assets in recent years, including Synplicity in May 2008, and as part of our efforts to expand our product and services offerings we expect to make additional acquisitions in the future.

In addition to direct costs, acquisitions pose a number of risks, including:

- Potential negative impact on our earnings per share;
- Failure of acquired products to achieve projected sales;
- Problems in integrating the acquired products with our products;
- Difficulties in retaining key employees and integrating them into our company;
- Failure to realize expected synergies or cost savings;
- Regulatory delays;
- Drain on management time for acquisition-related activities;
- Assumption of unknown liabilities;
- Additional tax liabilities; and
- Adverse effects on customer buying patterns or relationships.

While we review proposed acquisitions carefully and strive to negotiate terms that are favorable to us, we can provide no assurance that any acquisition will positively affect our future performance. Furthermore, if we later determine we cannot use or sell an acquired product or technology, we could be required to write down the goodwill and intangible assets associated with the product or technology; any such write-downs could have a material adverse effect on our results of operations.

Conditions of foreign economies, foreign exchange rate fluctuations and the increasingly global nature of our operations could adversely affect our performance.

During the first three quarters of fiscal 2008 and full fiscal years of 2007 and 2006, we derived approximately 50% of our revenue from outside the United States; in the future, we expect our overall orders and revenue targets will continue to depend on substantial contributions from customers outside the United States. Foreign sales are vulnerable to regional or worldwide economic, political and health conditions, including the effects of international political conflict, hostilities and natural disasters. Further, any deterioration of foreign economies or foreign currency exchange rates would adversely affect our performance by reducing the amount of revenue derived from outside the United States.

Our operating results are also affected by fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates. Our results of operations can be adversely affected when the U.S. dollar weakens relative to other currencies, including the Euro, the Japanese yen and the Canadian dollar, as a result of the conversion of revenue and expenses of our foreign operations denominated in foreign currencies into the dollar. Exchange rates are subject to significant and rapid fluctuations, and therefore we cannot predict the prospective impact of exchange rate fluctuations on our business, results of operations and financial condition. While we hedge some foreign currency exposures of our business, we are unable to hedge all of our currency exposures, and there can be no assurance our hedging activities will completely mitigate our foreign currency risks.

In addition, we have expanded our non-U.S. operations significantly in the past several years. While the increased international presence of our business creates the potential for cost reductions and higher international sales, this strategy also requires us to recruit and retain qualified technical and managerial employees, manage multiple, remote locations performing complex software development projects and ensure intellectual property protection outside of the United States. The failure to effectively manage our global operations would have a material adverse effect on our business and results of operations.

Our investment portfolio may be impaired by further deterioration of the capital markets.

Our cash equivalent and short-term investment portfolio as of July 31, 2008 consists of investment grade municipal bonds, tax-exempt money market mutual funds and taxable money market mutual funds. We follow an established investment policy and set of guidelines to monitor, manage and limit our exposure to interest rate and credit risk. The policy sets forth credit quality standards and limits our exposure to any one issuer. As a result of current adverse financial market conditions, some financial instruments, such as structured investment vehicles, sub-prime mortgage-backed securities and collateralized debt obligations, may pose risks arising from liquidity and credit concerns. As of July 31, 2008, we had no direct holdings in these categories of investments and our exposure to these financial instruments through our indirect holdings in money market mutual funds was less than 1% of total cash, cash equivalents and short-term investments, which we do not consider to be material. As of July 31, 2008, we had no impairment charge associated with our short-term investment portfolio. However, we cannot predict future market conditions or market liquidity and can provide no assurance that our investment portfolio will not have other than temporary impairment.

From time to time we are subject to claims that our products infringe on third party intellectual property rights.

Under our customer agreements and other license agreements, we agree in many cases to indemnify our customers if our products infringe on a third party's intellectual property rights. As a result, we are from time to time subject to claims that our products infringe on these third party rights. For example, in March 2007, we settled a matter with Magma Design, Inc. in which both parties claimed patent infringement. As part of the settlement, Magma paid us an aggregate of $12.5 million. We are also currently defending some of our customers against claims that their use of one of our products infringes on a patent held by a Japanese electronics company. We believe this claim is without merit and will continue to vigorously defend against it.

These types of claims can, however, result in costly and time-consuming litigation, require us to enter into royalty arrangements, subject us to damages or injunctions restricting our sale of products, require us to refund license fees to our customers or to forgo future payments or require us to redesign certain of our products, any one of which could materially and adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

A failure to protect our proprietary technology would have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Our success depends in part upon protecting our proprietary technology. To protect this technology, we rely on agreements with customers, employees and others and on intellectual property laws worldwide. We can provide no assurance that these agreements will not be breached, that we would have adequate remedies for any breach or that our trade secrets will not otherwise become known or be independently developed by competitors. Moreover, some foreign countries do not currently provide effective legal protection for intellectual property; our ability to prevent the unauthorized use of our products in those countries is therefore limited. We have a policy of aggressively pursuing action against companies or individuals that wrongfully appropriate or use our products and technologies. For example, we engage in anti-piracy efforts against certain companies located in China. However, there can be no assurance that these actions will be successful. If we do not obtain or maintain appropriate patent, copyright or trade secret protection, for any reason, or cannot fully defend our intellectual property rights in some jurisdictions, our business, financial condition and results of operations would be materially and adversely affected. In addition, intellectual property litigation is lengthy, expensive and uncertain and legal fees related to such litigation may reduce our net income.

Our business is subject to evolving corporate governance and public disclosure regulations that have increased both our costs and the risk of noncompliance, which could have an adverse effect on our stock price.

We are subject to rules and regulations promulgated by a number of governmental and self-regulated organizations, including the SEC, Nasdaq and the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board. Many of these regulations continue to evolve, making compliance more difficult and uncertain. In addition, our efforts to comply with these new regulations have resulted in, and are likely to continue to result in, increased general and administrative expenses and a diversion of management time and attention from revenue-generating activities to compliance activities.

In particular, Section 404 of Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 and related regulations require us to include a management assessment of our internal control over financial reporting and our auditors to render an opinion as to the effectiveness of our internal control over financial reporting in our annual reports. This effort has required, and will continue to require in the future, the commitment of significant financial and managerial resources. Any failure to complete a favorable assessment and obtain an unqualified opinion from our auditors could have a material adverse effect on our stock price.

A failure to timely recruit and retain key employees would have a material adverse effect on our business.

To be successful, we must attract and retain key technical, sales and managerial employees, including those who join Synopsys in connection with acquisitions. There are a limited number of qualified EDA and IC design engineers, and competition for these individuals is intense. Our employees are often recruited aggressively by our competitors and our customers. In addition, a reorganization of our operations to better address customer needs, improve operational efficiency or reduce expenses may lead to the loss of key employees. Any failure to recruit and retain key technical, sales and managerial employees would have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Table of Contents

We issue stock options and restricted stock units and maintain employee stock purchase plans as a key component of our overall compensation. There is growing pressure on public companies from stockholders, who must approve any increases in our equity pool, generally to reduce our overhang or amount of outstanding and unexercised stock options. In addition, recent accounting rules that require us to recognize compensation expense in our results from operations for employee equity grants and our employee stock purchase plan have increased pressure to limit equity grants. These factors may make it more difficult for Synopsys to grant attractive equity-based packages in the future, which could adversely impact our ability to attract and retain key employees.

Product errors or defects could expose us to liability and harm our reputation.

Despite extensive testing prior to releasing our products, software products frequently contain errors or defects, especially when first introduced, when new versions are released or when integrated with technologies developed by acquired companies. Product errors could affect the performance or interoperability of our products, could delay the development or release of new products or new versions of products and could adversely affect market acceptance or perception of our products. In addition, allegations of IC manufacturability issues resulting from use of our IP products could, even if untrue, adversely affect our reputation and our customers' willingness to license IP products from us. Any such errors or delays in releasing new products or new versions of products or allegations of unsatisfactory performance could cause us to lose customers, increase our service costs, subject us to liability for damages and divert our resources from other tasks, any one of which could materially and adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Catastrophic events may disrupt our business.

We rely on our network infrastructure and enterprise applications, and technology systems for our development, marketing, operational, support and sales activities. A disruption or failure of these systems in the event of a major earthquake, fire, telecommunications failure, cyber-attack, terrorist attack, or other catastrophic event could cause system interruptions, delays in our product development and loss of critical data and could prevent us from fulfilling our customers' orders. Our corporate headquarters, a significant portion of our research and development activities, our data centers, and certain other critical business operations are located in California, near major earthquake faults. We believe we have developed sufficient disaster recovery plans and backup systems to reduce the potentially adverse effect of such events, but a catastrophic event that results in the destruction or disruption of any of our data centers or our critical business or information technology systems could severely affect our ability to conduct normal business operations and, as a result, our future operating results could be adversely affected.

ITEM 2. UNREGISTERED SALES OF EQUITY SECURITIES AND USE OF PROCEEDS

Synopsys' Board of Directors approved a $500 million stock repurchase program on December 1, 2004, which was replenished to $500 million on March 22, 2007. Funds are available until expended or until the program is suspended by the Chief Financial Officer or the Board of Directors. Synopsys did not repurchase any shares of common stock under the program during the three months ended July 31, 2008 and, as of such date, an aggregate of approximately $259.7 million remained authorized for future purchases.

See Note 4 of Notes to Unaudited Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for further information regarding our stock repurchase program.

SYNOPSYS, INC.

FORM OF AMENDED AND RESTATED EXECUTIVE CHANGE OF CONTROL SEVERANCE BENEFIT PLAN

SECTION 1. INTRODUCTION.

The Synopsys, Inc. Executive Change of Control Severance Benefit Plan (the "Plan") was established effective March 23, 2006 and is hereby amended and restated effective May 28, 2008. The purpose of the Plan is to provide for the payment of benefits to certain eligible executive employees of Synopsys, Inc. (the "Company") if such employees are subject to qualifying employment terminations in connection with a Change of Control (as such term is defined below). This Plan shall supersede, as to any Eligible Employee, any severance benefit plan, policy, or practice previously maintained by the Company, other than change of control or severance benefits set forth in an equity incentive plan in which the primary form of award is in the form of options on stock of the Company or grants of shares of stock of the Company. In the event of a benefit set forth in an equity incentive plan, an employee's severance benefit, if any, shall be governed by the terms of such equity incentive plan and shall be governed by this Plan only to the extent that the reduction pursuant to Section 5(b) below does not entirely eliminate benefits under this Plan. This Plan shall not supersede or otherwise amend any severance plan, policy, or practice of the Company with respect to individuals who are not Eligible Employees. This document also constitutes the Summary Plan Description for the Plan.

SECTION 2. DEFINITIONS.

For purposes of the Plan, the following terms are defined as follows:

(a) "Base Salary" means the Eligible Employee's annual base pay (excluding incentive pay, premium pay, commissions, overtime, bonuses and other forms of variable compensation), at the rate in effect during the last regularly scheduled payroll period immediately preceding the date of the Eligible Employee's Covered Termination.

(b) "Board" means the Board of Directors of the Company.

(c) "Change of Control" means the occurrence, in a single transaction or in a series of related transactions, of any one or more of the following events:

(i) any person becomes the Owner, directly or indirectly, of securities of the Company representing more than fifty percent (50%) of the combined voting power of the Company's then outstanding securities other than by virtue of a merger, consolidation or similar transaction. Notwithstanding the foregoing, a Change of Control shall not be deemed to occur (A) on account of the acquisition of securities of the Company by an investor, any affiliate thereof or any other person from the Company in a transaction or series of related transactions the primary purpose of which is to obtain financing for the Company through the issuance of equity securities or (B) solely because the level of Ownership held by any person (the "Subject

Person”) exceeds the designated percentage threshold of the outstanding voting securities as a result of a repurchase or other acquisition of voting securities by the Company reducing the number of shares outstanding, provided that if a Change of Control would occur (but for the operation of this sentence) as a result of the acquisition of voting securities by the Company, and after such share acquisition, the Subject Person becomes the owner of any additional voting securities that, assuming the repurchase or other acquisition had not occurred, increases the percentage of the then outstanding voting securities Owned by the Subject Person over the designated percentage threshold, then a Change of Control shall be deemed to occur;

(ii) there is consummated a merger, consolidation or similar transaction involving (directly or indirectly) the Company and, immediately after the consummation of such merger, consolidation or similar transaction, the stockholders of the Company immediately prior thereto do not Own, directly or indirectly, either (A) outstanding voting securities representing more than fifty percent (50%) of the combined outstanding voting power of the surviving entity in such merger, consolidation or similar transaction or (B) more than fifty percent (50%) of the combined outstanding voting power of the parent of the surviving entity in such merger, consolidation or similar transaction, in each case in substantially the same proportions as their Ownership of the outstanding voting securities of the Company immediately prior to such transaction;

(iii) the stockholders of the Company approve or the Board approves a plan of complete dissolution or liquidation of the Company, or a complete dissolution or liquidation of the Company shall otherwise occur;

(iv) there is consummated a sale, lease, license or other disposition of all or substantially all of the consolidated assets of the Company and its Subsidiaries, other than a sale, lease, license or other disposition of all or substantially all of the consolidated assets of the Company and its Subsidiaries to an Entity, more than fifty percent (50%) of the combined voting power of the voting securities of which are Owned by stockholders of the Company in substantially the same proportions as their Ownership of the Company immediately prior to such sale, lease, license or other disposition.

(v) individuals who, on the date this Plan is adopted by the Board, are members of the Board (the “Incumbent Board”) cease for any reason to constitute at least a majority of the members of the Board; provided, however, that if the appointment or election (or nomination for election) of any new Board member was approved or recommended by a majority vote of the members of the Incumbent Board then still in office, such new member shall, for purposes of this Plan, be considered as a member of the Incumbent Board.

For the avoidance of doubt, the term Change of Control shall not include a sale of assets, merger or other transaction effected exclusively for the purpose of changing the domicile of the Company. Once a Change of Control has occurred, no future events shall constitute a Change of Control for purposes of the Plan.

- (d) “COBRA” means the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1985, as amended.
- (e) “Code” means the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended.
- (f) “Company” means Synopsys, Inc. or, following a Change of Control, the surviving entity resulting from such transaction.
- (g) “Constructive Termination” means a termination of employment by an Eligible Employee within sixty (60) days after one of the following is undertaken without the Eligible Employee’s express written consent:
- (i) the Company significantly reduces the Eligible Employee’s duties, authority or responsibilities, relative to the Eligible Employee’s duties, authority or responsibilities as in effect immediately prior to such reduction, taken as a whole; provided, however, that a change in the Eligible Employee’s title shall not be taken into account in determining if the Eligible Employee’s duties, authority or responsibilities have been reduced for the purposes of this Section 2(g)(i);
 - (ii) the Company reduces the Eligible Employee’s Base Salary, unless such reduction is made in connection with an across-the-board reduction of substantially all executives’ annual base salaries including those of the acquiring company;
 - (iii) a relocation of an Eligible Employee’s primary business office to a location more than seventy-five (75) miles from the location at which the Eligible Employee predominately performed duties as of the effective date of the Change of Control, except for required travel by the Eligible Employee on the Company’s business to an extent substantially consistent with the Eligible Employee’s business travel obligations prior to the Change of Control.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, a termination shall not constitute a Constructive Termination based on conduct described above unless (A) within the thirty (30) day period following the occurrence of the conduct, the Eligible Employee provides the Chief Executive Officer of the Company with written notice specifying (x) the particulars of the conduct and (y) that the Eligible Employee deems such conduct to be described in (i), (ii) or (iii) of this Section 2(g), and (B) the conduct described has not been cured within thirty (30) days following receipt by the Chief Executive Officer of such notice.

(h) “Covered Termination” means either (A) an Involuntary Termination Without Cause which occurs within thirty (30) days prior to or twelve (12) months following the effective date of a Change of Control, or (B) a Constructive Termination which occurs within twelve (12) months following the effective date of a Change of Control. Termination of employment of an Eligible Employee due to death or disability shall not constitute a Covered Termination unless a voluntary termination of employment by the Eligible Employee immediately prior to the Eligible Employee’s death or disability would have qualified as a Constructive Termination. For purposes of the Plan, an event constituting a Covered Termination shall satisfy the requirements of a “separation from service” within the meaning of Section 409A of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the “Code”) and Section 1.409A-1(h) of the regulations promulgated under the Code or any successor regulations.

(i) “Eligible Employee” means an employee of the Company (A) who has been designated by the Board as an “officer” under Section 16 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934; (B) who has received, signed and timely returned a Participation Notice; and (C) whose employment with the Company terminates due to a Covered Termination.

(j) “Entity” means a corporation, partnership or other entity.

(k) “ERISA” means the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended.

(l) “Involuntary Termination Without Cause” means a termination by the Company of an Eligible Employee’s employment relationship with the Company for any reason other than the following:

(i) the Eligible Employee has committed an act of personal dishonesty in connection with the Eligible Employee’s responsibilities as a Company employee;

(ii) the Eligible Employee commits a felony or any act of moral turpitude;

(iii) the Eligible Employee commits any willful or grossly negligent act that constitutes gross misconduct and/or injures, or is reasonably likely to injure, the Company; or

(iv) the Eligible Employee substantially fails to perform the Eligible Employee’s job duties and/or willfully and materially violates (A) any written policies or procedures of the Company or (B) the Eligible Employee’s obligations to the Company and that violation, if curable, continues for a period of thirty (30) days after the Company provides the Eligible Employee written notice that describes the basis for the Company’s belief that the Eligible Employee has not substantially performed the Eligible Employee’s duties and/or willfully and materially violated (x) any written policies or procedures of the Company or (y) the Eligible Employee’s obligations to the Company.

(m) “Own,” “Owned,” “Owner,” “Ownership” A person or Entity shall be deemed to “Own,” to have “Owned,” to be the “Owner” of, or to have acquired “Ownership” of securities if such person or Entity, directly or indirectly, through any contract, arrangement, understanding, relationship or otherwise, has or shares voting power, which includes the power to vote or to direct the voting, with respect to such securities.

(n) “Participation Notice” means the latest notice delivered by the Company to an employee informing the employee that the employee is a participant in the Plan. A Participation Notice shall be in such form as may be determined by the Company. Notwithstanding the foregoing, neither the Company nor any successor may amend a Participation Notice in any way that is adverse to a participant, without the written consent of the participant, unless the amendment is made more than nine (9) months prior to an applicable Change of Control.

(o) “Plan Administrator” means the Board or any committee duly authorized by the Board to administer the Plan. The Plan Administrator may, but is not required to be, the Compensation Committee of the Board. The Board may at any time administer the Plan, in whole or in part, notwithstanding that the Board has previously appointed a committee to act as the Plan Administrator.

(p) “Subsidiary” means, with respect to the Company, (A) any corporation of which more than fifty percent (50%) of the outstanding capital stock having ordinary voting power to elect a majority of the board of directors of such corporation (irrespective of whether, at the time, stock of any other class or classes of such corporation shall have or might have voting power by reason of the happening of any contingency) is at the time, directly or indirectly, Owned by the Company, and (B) any partnership in which the Company has a direct or indirect interest (whether in the form of voting or participation in profits or capital contribution) of more than fifty percent (50%).

SECTION 3. ELIGIBILITY FOR BENEFITS.

(a) General Rules. Subject to the limitations set forth in this Section 3 and Section 5, in the event of a Covered Termination, the Company shall provide the severance benefits described in Section 4 to each affected Eligible Employee.

(b) Exceptions to Benefit Entitlement. An employee, including an employee who otherwise is an Eligible Employee, will not receive benefits under the Plan (or will receive reduced benefits under the Plan) in the following circumstances, as determined by the Plan Administrator in its sole discretion:

(i) The employee’s employment terminates or is terminated for any reason other than a Covered Termination.

(ii) The employee resigns his or her employment with the Company in order to accept employment with another entity that is controlled (directly or indirectly) by the Company or is otherwise an affiliate of the Company.

(iii) The employee does not confirm in writing that he or she shall be subject to the provisions of Section 5(f), the employee’s proprietary information agreement with the Company or the employee’s confidentiality agreement with the Company.

(iv) The employee is rehired by the Company prior to the date benefits under the Plan are scheduled to be paid or otherwise commence.

(v) The employee is offered an identical or substantially equivalent or comparable position with the Company or a successor pursuant to a Change of Control. For purposes of the foregoing, a “substantially equivalent or comparable position” is one that offers the employee substantially the same level of responsibility and compensation; provided, however, that an employee shall not be considered to be offered a “substantially equivalent or comparable position” if a resignation by the employee would constitute a Constructive Termination.

(c) Termination or Return of Benefits. An Eligible Employee’s right to receive benefits under this Plan shall terminate immediately (and any benefits received pursuant to this Plan shall be immediately returned to the Company) if, at any time prior to or during the eighteen (18) month period following a Change of Control, the Eligible Employee, without the prior written approval of the Plan Administrator:

(i) willfully breaches a material provision of the Eligible Employee’s proprietary information or confidentiality agreement with the Company, as referenced in Section 3(b)(iii);

(ii) encourages or solicits any of the Company’s then current employees to leave the Company’s employ for any reason or interferes in any other manner with employment relationships at the time existing between the Company and its then current employees;

(iii) uses the Company’s proprietary or confidential information to induce any of the Company’s then current clients, customers, suppliers, vendors, distributors, licensors, licensees or other third party to terminate or materially diminish their existing business relationship with the Company or interferes in any other manner with any existing business relationship between the Company and any then current client, customer, supplier, vendor, distributor, licensor, licensee or other third party; or

(iv) willfully breaches a material provision of Section 5(f).

SECTION 4. AMOUNT OF BENEFITS. In the event an Eligible Employee incurs a Covered Termination, the Eligible Employee shall receive the benefits set forth in this Section 4, subject, however, to the payment provisions set forth in Section 6 and the other limitations and exclusions set forth in this Plan.

(a) Cash Severance Benefits. Except as otherwise provided herein, the Company shall make four equal quarterly cash severance payments to each Eligible Employee in an amount equal to the sum of (i) one-fourth the Eligible Employee’s Base Salary, as in effect on the date of a Covered Termination, or, if higher, as in effect immediately prior to the Change of Control, plus (ii) an additional payment equal to one-fourth of the product of (i) the Eligible Employee’s annual target bonus at 100% achievement, as in effect on the date of a Covered Termination, or, if higher, as in effect immediately prior to the Change of Control multiplied by (ii) a fraction (x) the numerator of which is the sum of 365 plus the number of calendar days of service actually served by the Eligible Employee in the fiscal year of the Company in which such termination occurs and (y) the denominator of which is 365 (e.g., if a qualifying termination occurs effective May 31st of a given year and the Company’s bonus program is based on an October 31 fiscal year end, the payment pursuant to this Section 4(a) will equal the full bonus for the fiscal year of termination at 100% of target, regardless of the Company's actual performance, multiplied by $(365 + 212)/365$), such payments to be due on the last day of the third, sixth, ninth and twelfth months following the date of the Covered Termination, provided, however, that if any such payment would otherwise be due on a date that is later than the 15th day of the third month following the end of the fiscal year in which an Eligible Employee's Covered Termination occurs, such payment shall instead be made on or prior to the 15th day of the third month following the end of the fiscal year in which an Eligible Employee's Covered Termination occurs. For the avoidance of doubt, it is the intent of this Section 4(a) to provide a cash severance benefit equal to 100% of the Base Salary (as modified) plus 100% of the target bonus for the year of the Covered Termination plus a prorated target bonus (so that the total bonus is between 100% and 200% of the target bonus regardless of actual over or under achievement of performance targets).

(b) Health Continuation Coverage.

(i) Provided that the Eligible Employee is eligible for, and has made an election at the time of the Covered Termination pursuant to COBRA under a health, dental, or vision plan sponsored by the Company, each such Eligible Employee shall be entitled to receive a lump-sum payment equal to the amount of the COBRA premiums (inclusive of premiums for the Eligible Employee's dependents for such health, dental, or vision plan coverage as in effect immediately prior to the date of the Covered Termination) necessary to maintain such health, dental, or vision plan coverage for a period of twelve (12) months following the date of the Covered Termination. Such lump-sum payment shall be made on or prior to the 15th day of the third month following the end of the fiscal year in which the Employee's Covered Termination occurs. The Eligible Employee shall be solely responsible for making the payments required under the COBRA coverage elected by the Eligible Employee.

(ii) For purposes of this Section 4(b), (A) references to COBRA shall be deemed to refer also to analogous provisions of state law, and (B) any applicable insurance premiums that are paid by the Company shall not include any amounts payable by the Eligible Employee under an Internal Revenue Code Section 125 health care reimbursement plan, which amounts, if any, are the sole responsibility of the Eligible Employee.

(c) Vesting Acceleration. Effective upon the Covered Termination, all Company stock awards, including options, restricted stock, stock appreciation rights and any other form of performance-based equity award, then held by the Eligible Employee shall vest in full and become fully exercisable as of the date of such Covered Termination (subject, if applicable, to the exercise period post-termination set forth in the applicable option agreement, or if none is stated, in the plan(s) pursuant to which such options were granted).

(d) Other Employee Benefits. All other benefits (such as life insurance, disability coverage, and 401(k) plan coverage) shall terminate as of the Eligible Employee's termination date (except to the extent that a conversion privilege may be available thereunder).

(e) Additional Benefits. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Plan Administrator may, in its sole discretion, provide benefits in addition to those pursuant to Sections 4(a), 4(b), and 4(c) to Eligible Employees, or to employees who are not Eligible Employees but for whom there has been a termination of employment that would be a Covered Termination if such employee were an Eligible Employee (“Non-Eligible Employees”), chosen by the Plan Administrator, in its sole discretion, and the provision of any such benefits to an Eligible Employee or a Non-Eligible Employee shall in no way obligate the Company to provide such benefits to any other Eligible Employee or to any other Non-Eligible Employee, even if similarly situated. If benefits under the Plan are provided to a non-Eligible Employee, references in the Plan to “Eligible Employee” (with the exception of Sections 4(a), 4(b), and 4(c)) shall be deemed to refer to such Non-Eligible Employee. Any benefits paid pursuant to this Section 4(e) shall be paid not later than the 15th day of the third month following the end of the fiscal year in which the Eligible Employee’s Covered Termination, or Non-Eligible Employee’s termination of employment, occurs.

SECTION 5. LIMITATIONS ON BENEFITS.

(a) Release. In order to be eligible to receive benefits under the Plan, an Eligible Employee must execute the Company’s standard (and then-current) severance agreement and general release, and such release must become effective in accordance with its terms. Unless a Change of Control has occurred, the Plan Administrator, in its sole discretion, may modify the form of the required release to comply with applicable law and shall determine the form of the required release, which may be incorporated into a termination agreement or other agreement with the Eligible Employee.

(b) Certain Reductions. The Plan Administrator, in its sole discretion, shall have the authority to reduce an Eligible Employee’s severance benefits, in whole or in part, by any other severance benefits, pay in lieu of notice, or other similar benefits payable to the Eligible Employee by the Company that become payable in connection with the Eligible Employee’s termination of employment pursuant to (i) any applicable legal requirement, including, without limitation, the Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act (the “WARN Act”), (ii) a written employment or severance agreement with the Company, or (iii) any Company policy or practice providing for the Eligible Employee to remain on the payroll for a limited period of time after being given notice of the termination of the Eligible Employee’s employment. The benefits provided under this Plan are intended to satisfy, in whole or in part, any and all statutory obligations that may arise out of an Eligible Employee’s termination of employment, and the Plan Administrator shall so construe and implement the terms of the Plan. The Plan Administrator’s decision to apply such reductions to the severance benefits of one Eligible Employee and the amount of such reductions shall in no way obligate the Plan Administrator to apply the same reductions in the same amounts to the severance benefits of any other Eligible Employee, even if similarly situated. In the Plan Administrator’s sole discretion, such reductions may be applied on a retroactive basis, with severance benefits previously paid being re-characterized as payments pursuant to the Company’s statutory obligation.

(c) Parachute Payments. Except as otherwise provided in an agreement between an Eligible Employee and the Company, if any payment or benefit the Eligible Employee would receive in connection with a Change of Control from the Company or otherwise (“Payment”) would (i) constitute a “parachute payment” within the meaning of Section 280G of the Code, and (ii) but for this sentence, be subject to the excise tax imposed by Section 4999 of the Code (the “Excise Tax”), then such Payment shall be equal to the Reduced Amount. The “Reduced Amount” shall be either (x) the largest portion of the Payment that would result in no portion of the Payment being subject to the Excise Tax, or (y) the largest portion, up to and including the total, of the Payment, whichever amount, after taking into account all applicable federal, state and local employment taxes, income taxes, and the Excise Tax (all computed at the highest applicable marginal rate), results in the Eligible Employee’s receipt, on an after-tax basis, of the greater amount of the Payment notwithstanding that all or some portion of the Payment may be subject to the Excise Tax. If a reduction in payments or benefits constituting “parachute payments” is necessary so that the Payment equals the Reduced Amount, reduction shall occur in the following order unless the Eligible Employee elects in writing a different order (provided, however, that such election shall be subject to Company approval if made on or after the date on which the event that triggers the Payment occurs): (1) reduction of cash payments; (2) cancellation of accelerated vesting of equity awards other than stock options; (3) cancellation of accelerated vesting of stock options; and (4) reduction of other benefits paid to an Eligible Employee. If acceleration of vesting of compensation from an Eligible Employee’s equity awards is to be reduced, such acceleration of vesting shall be cancelled by first canceling such acceleration for the vesting installment that will vest last and continuing by canceling as a first priority such acceleration for vesting installment with the latest vesting unless the Eligible Employee elects in writing a different order for cancellation prior to any Change of Control.

(d) Mitigation. Except as otherwise specifically provided herein, an Eligible Employee shall not be required to mitigate damages or the amount of any payment provided under this Plan by seeking other employment or otherwise, nor shall the amount of any payment provided for under this Plan be reduced by any compensation earned by an Eligible Employee as a result of employment by another employer or any retirement benefits received by such Eligible Employee after the date of the Eligible Employee’s termination of employment with the Company, except for health continuation coverage provided pursuant to Section 4(b).

(e) Non-Duplication of Benefits. Except as otherwise specifically provided for herein, no Eligible Employee is eligible to receive benefits under this Plan more than one time. This Plan is designed to provide certain severance pay and Change of Control to Eligible Employees pursuant to the terms and conditions set forth in this Plan. The payments pursuant to this Plan are in addition to, and not in lieu of, any unpaid salary, bonuses or benefits to which an Eligible Employee may be entitled for the period ending with the Eligible Employee’s Covered Termination.

(f) Noncompetition. To the fullest extent permitted by law, in the event of a change of control that constitutes a transaction within the meaning of California Business and Professions Code section 16601 between Eligible Employee and the Company (to wit, Eligible Employee sells the goodwill of the Company, disposes (by merger or otherwise) of all of his or her ownership interest in the Company, or sells all or substantially all of the operating assets together with the goodwill of the business or of a division or a subsidiary of the business), then at the written request of the Company or the surviving corporation in a Change of Control, for a period of eighteen (18) months following the effective date of the Change of Control, the Eligible Employee shall not serve as an officer, director, stockholder, employee, partner, proprietor, investor, joint venturer, affiliate, agent or consultant of any other person, corporation, firm, partnership or other entity whatsoever that competes directly or indirectly with the Company or any Subsidiary of the Company (“Applicable Entities”) anywhere in the world, in any line of business engaged in (or reasonably planned to be engaged in) by the Applicable Entities immediately prior to the effective time of the Change of Control; provided, however, that the Eligible Employee may hold, as a passive investment, up to (i) 2% of any class of securities of any private enterprise (but without active participation in the activities of such enterprise); or (ii) 1% of any class of securities of any publicly-traded enterprise (but without active participation in the activities of such enterprise).

SECTION 6. TIME OF PAYMENT AND FORM OF BENEFITS.

(a) General Rules. Except as otherwise provided herein, the payment of benefits in Section 4 shall be made in accordance with and subject to the Company’s normal payroll practices. In no event shall payment of any Plan benefit be made prior to the Eligible Employee’s termination date or prior to the effective date of the release described in Section 5(a). For the avoidance of doubt, in the event of an acceleration of the exercisability of an option or other equity award pursuant to Section 4(c), such option or other equity award shall not be exercisable with respect to such acceleration of exercisability unless and until the effective date of the release described in Section 5(a).

(b) Application of Section 409A. If the Plan Administrator determines that (i) any cash severance benefit provided under Section 4(a), (ii) any health continuation coverage provided under Section 4(b) or (iii) any additional benefit provided under Section 4(e) fails to satisfy the distribution requirement of Section 409A(a)(2)(A) of the Code as a result of the application of Section 409A(a)(2)(B)(i) of the Code, the payment of such benefit shall be delayed to the minimum extent necessary so that such benefits are not subject to the provisions of Section 409A(a)(1) of the Code. The Plan Administrator may attach conditions to or adjust the amounts paid pursuant to this Section 6(b) to preserve, as closely as possible, the economic consequences that would have applied in the absence of this Section 6(b); provided, however, that no such condition shall result in the payments being subject to Section 409A(a)(1) of the Code.

(c) Withholding. All such payments under the Plan will be subject to all applicable withholding obligations of the Company, without limitation, obligations to withhold for federal, state and local income and employment taxes.

(d) Indebtedness of Eligible Employees. If an Eligible Employee is indebted to the Company on the effective date of his or her Covered Termination, the Plan Administrator reserves the right to offset any severance payments under the Plan by the amount of such indebtedness.

SECTION 7. RIGHT TO INTERPRET PLAN; AMENDMENT AND TERMINATION.

(a) Exclusive Discretion. The Plan Administrator shall have the exclusive discretion and authority to establish rules, forms, and procedures for the administration of the Plan, and to construe and interpret the Plan and to decide any and all questions of fact, interpretation, definition, computation or administration arising in connection with the operation of the Plan, including, but not limited to, the eligibility to participate in the Plan and amount of benefits paid under the Plan. The rules, interpretations, computations and other actions of the Plan Administrator shall be binding and conclusive on all persons.

(b) Amendment or Termination. The Company reserves the right to amend or terminate this Plan or the benefits provided hereunder at any time; provided, however, that no such amendment or termination shall occur during the period that begins nine (9) months prior to a Change of Control and ends twelve (12) months after such Change of Control as to any Eligible Employee who would be adversely affected by such amendment or termination unless such Eligible Employee consents in writing to such amendment or termination. Any action amending or terminating the Plan shall be in writing and executed by the Chief Executive Officer or General Counsel of the Company.

SECTION 8. NO IMPLIED EMPLOYMENT CONTRACT.

The Plan shall not be deemed (i) to give any employee or other person any right to be retained in the employ of the Company, or (ii) to interfere with the right of the Company to discharge any employee or other person at any time, with or without cause, which right is hereby reserved.

SECTION 9. LEGAL CONSTRUCTION.

This Plan is intended to be governed by and shall be construed in accordance with ERISA and, to the extent not preempted by ERISA, the laws of the State of California.

SECTION 10. CLAIMS, INQUIRIES AND APPEALS.

(a) Applications for Benefits and Inquiries. Any application for benefits, inquiries about the Plan or inquiries about present or future rights under the Plan must be submitted to the Plan Administrator in writing by an applicant (or his or her authorized representative). The Plan Administrator is set forth in Section 13(d).

(b) Denial of Claims. In the event that any application for benefits is denied in whole or in part, the Plan Administrator must provide the applicant with written or electronic notice of the denial of the application, and of the applicant's right to review the denial. Any electronic notice will comply with the regulations of the U.S. Department of Labor. The notice of denial will be set forth in a manner designed to be understood by the applicant and will include the following:

- (i) the specific reason or reasons for the denial;
- (ii) references to the specific Plan provisions upon which the denial is based;
- (iii) a description of any additional information or material that the Plan Administrator needs to complete the review and an explanation of why such information or material is necessary; and
- (iv) an explanation of the Plan's review procedures and the time limits applicable to such procedures, including a statement of the applicant's right to bring a civil action under Section 502(a) of ERISA following a denial on review of the claim, as described in Section 10(d) below.

This notice of denial will be given to the applicant within ninety (90) days after the Plan Administrator receives the application, unless special circumstances require an extension of time, in which case, the Plan Administrator has up to an additional ninety (90) days for processing the application. If an extension of time for processing is required, written notice of the extension will be furnished to the applicant before the end of the initial ninety (90) day period.

This notice of extension will describe the special circumstances necessitating the additional time and the date by which the Plan Administrator is to render its decision on the application.

(c) Request for a Review. Any person (or that person's authorized representative) for whom an application for benefits is denied, in whole or in part, may appeal the denial by submitting a request for a review to the Plan Administrator within sixty (60) days after the application is denied. A request for a review shall be in writing and shall be addressed to:

Synopsys, Inc.
Attn: General Counsel
700 East Middlefield Road
Mountain View, CA 94043

A request for review must set forth all of the grounds on which it is based, all facts in support of the request and any other matters that the applicant feels are pertinent. The applicant (or his or her representative) shall have the opportunity to submit (or the Plan Administrator may require the applicant to submit) written comments, documents, records, and other information relating to his or her claim. The applicant (or his or her representative) shall be provided, upon request and free of charge, reasonable access to, and copies of, all documents, records and other information relevant to his or her claim. The review shall take into account all comments, documents, records and other information submitted by the applicant (or his or her representative) relating to the claim, without regard to whether such information was submitted or considered in the initial benefit determination.

(d) Decision on Review. The Plan Administrator will act on each request for review within sixty (60) days after receipt of the request, unless special circumstances require an extension of time (not to exceed an additional sixty (60) days), for processing the request for a review. If an extension for review is required, written notice of the extension will be furnished to the applicant within the initial sixty (60) day period. This notice of extension will describe the special circumstances necessitating the additional time and the date by which the Plan Administrator is to render its decision on the review. The Plan Administrator will give prompt, written or electronic notice of its decision to the applicant. Any electronic notice will comply with the regulations of the U.S. Department of Labor. In the event that the Plan Administrator confirms the denial of the application for benefits in whole or in part, the notice will set forth, in a manner calculated to be understood by the applicant, the following:

- (i) the specific reason or reasons for the denial;
- (ii) references to the specific Plan provisions upon which the denial is based;
- (iii) a statement that the applicant is entitled to receive, upon request and free of charge, reasonable access to, and copies of, all documents, records and other information relevant to his or her claim; and
- (iv) a statement of the applicant's right to bring a civil action under Section 502(a) of ERISA.

(e) Rules and Procedures. The Plan Administrator will establish rules and procedures, consistent with the Plan and with ERISA, as necessary and appropriate in carrying out its responsibilities in reviewing benefit claims. The Plan Administrator may require an applicant who wishes to submit additional information in connection with an appeal from the denial of benefits to do so at the applicant's own expense.

(f) Exhaustion of Remedies. No legal action for benefits under the Plan may be brought until the applicant (i) has submitted a written application for benefits in accordance with the procedures described by Section 10(a) above, (ii) has been notified by the Plan Administrator that the application is denied, (iii) has filed a written request for a review of the application in accordance with the appeal procedure described in Section 10(c) above, and (iv) has been notified that the Plan Administrator has denied the appeal. Notwithstanding the foregoing, if the Plan Administrator does not respond to an applicant's claim or appeal within the relevant time limits specified in this Section 10, the applicant may bring legal action for benefits under the Plan pursuant to Section 502(a) of ERISA.

SECTION 11. BASIS OF PAYMENTS TO AND FROM PLAN.

The Plan shall be unfunded, and all benefits hereunder shall be paid only from the general assets of the Company.

SECTION 12. OTHER PLAN INFORMATION.

The Plan Number assigned to the Plan by the Plan Sponsor pursuant to the instructions of the Internal Revenue Service is 5 .

(b) Ending Date for Plan’s Fiscal Year. The date of the end of the fiscal year for the purpose of maintaining the Plan’s records is the fiscal year ending on the Saturday that is closest to October 31.

(c) Agent for the Service of Legal Process. The agent for the service of legal process with respect to the Plan is:

(d) Plan Sponsor and Administrator. The “Plan Sponsor” and the “Plan Administrator” of the Plan is:

SECTION 13. STATEMENT OF ERISA RIGHTS.

Participants in this Plan (which is a welfare benefit plan sponsored by Synopsys, Inc.) are entitled to certain rights and protections under ERISA. If you are an Eligible Employee, you are considered a participant in the Plan for the purposes of this Section 13 and, under ERISA, you are entitled to:

(a) Receive Information About Your Plan and Benefits

(i) Examine, without charge, at the Plan Administrator’s office and at other specified locations, such as worksites, all documents governing the Plan and a copy of the latest annual report (Form 5500 Series), if applicable, filed by the Plan with the U.S. Department of Labor and available at the Public Disclosure Room of the Employee Benefits Security Administration;

(ii) Obtain, upon written request to the Plan Administrator, copies of documents governing the operation of the Plan and copies of the latest annual report (Form 5500 Series), if applicable, and an updated (as necessary) Summary Plan Description. The Administrator may make a reasonable charge for the copies; and

(iii) Receive a summary of the Plan's annual financial report, if applicable. The Plan Administrator is required by law to furnish each participant with a copy of this summary annual report.

(b) Prudent Actions By Plan Fiduciaries. In addition to creating rights for Plan participants, ERISA imposes duties upon the people who are responsible for the operation of the employee benefit plan. The people who operate the Plan, called "fiduciaries" of the Plan, have a duty to do so prudently and in the interest of you and other Plan participants and beneficiaries. No one, including your employer, your union or any other person, may fire you or otherwise discriminate against you in any way to prevent you from obtaining a Plan benefit or exercising your rights under ERISA.

(c) Enforce Your Rights.

(i) If your claim for a Plan benefit is denied or ignored, in whole or in part, you have a right to know why this was done, to obtain copies of documents relating to the decision without charge, and to appeal any denial, all within certain time schedules.

(ii) Under ERISA, there are steps you can take to enforce the above rights. For instance, if you request a copy of Plan documents or the latest annual report from the Plan, if applicable, and do not receive them within 30 days, you may file suit in a Federal court. In such a case, the court may require the Plan Administrator to provide the materials and pay you up to $110 a day until you receive the materials, unless the materials were not sent because of reasons beyond the control of the Plan Administrator.

(iii) If you have a claim for benefits which is denied or ignored, in whole or in part, you may file suit in a state or Federal court.

(iv) If you are discriminated against for asserting your rights, you may seek assistance from the U.S. Department of Labor, or you may file suit in a Federal court. The court will decide who should pay court costs and legal fees. If you are successful, the court may order the person you have sued to pay these costs and fees. If you lose, the court may order you to pay these costs and fees, for example, if it finds your claim is frivolous.

(d) Assistance With Your Questions. If you have any questions about the Plan, you should contact the Plan Administrator. If you have any questions about this statement or about your rights under ERISA, or if you need assistance in obtaining documents from the Plan Administrator, you should contact the nearest office of the Employee Benefits Security Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, listed in your telephone directory or the Division of Technical Assistance and Inquiries, Employee Benefits Security Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, 200 Constitution Avenue N.W., Washington, D.C. 20210. You may also obtain certain publications about your rights and responsibilities under ERISA by calling the publications hotline of the Employee Benefits Security Administration.

SECTION 14. GENERAL PROVISIONS.

(a) Notices. Any notice, demand or request required or permitted to be given by either the Company or an Eligible Employee pursuant to the terms of this Plan shall be in writing and shall be deemed given when delivered personally or deposited in the U.S. mail, First Class with postage prepaid, and addressed to the parties, in the case of the Company, at the address set forth in Section 12(d) and, in the case of an Eligible Employee, at the address as set forth in the Company's employment file maintained for the Eligible Employee as previously furnished by the Eligible Employee or such other address as a party may request by notifying the other in writing.

(b) Transfer and Assignment. The rights and obligations of an Eligible Employee under this Plan may not be transferred or assigned without the prior written consent of the Company. This Plan shall be binding upon any surviving entity resulting from a Change of Control and upon any other person who is a successor by merger, acquisition, consolidation or otherwise to the business formerly carried on by the Company without regard to whether or not such person or entity actively assumes the obligations hereunder.

(c) Waiver. Any Party's failure to enforce any provision or provisions of this Plan shall not in any way be construed as a waiver of any such provision or provisions, nor prevent any Party from thereafter enforcing each and every other provision of this Plan. The rights granted the Parties herein are cumulative and shall not constitute a waiver of any Party's right to assert all other legal remedies available to it under the circumstances.

(d) Severability. Should any provision of this Plan be declared or determined to be invalid, illegal or unenforceable, the validity, legality and enforceability of the remaining provisions shall not in any way be affected or impaired.

(e) Section Headings. Section headings in this Plan are included for convenience of reference only and shall not be considered part of this Plan for any other purpose.
