Cautionary Note

The information provided herein should be reviewed in conjunction with our earnings results as disclosed on May 21, 2014.

This Supplement contains forward-looking statements relating to expected future revenue from current revenue backlog. These statements are forward-looking statements within the meaning of the safe harbor provisions of Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Actual results could differ materially from those described by these statements due to a number of uncertainties, including but not limited to risks related to changes in demand for Synopsys' products due to fluctuations in demand for our customers' products, our ability to realize the potential financial or strategic benefits of the acquisitions we complete and the difficulties in the integration of the products and operations of acquired companies or assets into our products and operations, the continued uncertainty in the global economy and the semiconductor and electronics industries, willingness or ability of our customers to pay license fees as scheduled or to accept services delivered, cancellation or renegotiation of orders, consolidation among our customers, our inability to recognize revenue from backlog when expected, variability in the timing of revenue recognition due to factors such as payment terms and the timing and value of contract renewals and professional services projects, our ability to deliver the products or services ordered, and other risks as detailed from time to time in our filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), including those described in the “Risk Factors” section of our most recent Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q. In addition, this Supplement contains non-GAAP financial measures as defined by the SEC in Regulation G. Reconciliations of the non-GAAP financial measures to their comparable GAAP measures are included herein.

Table 3 – Summary of License Types

Time-Based License

Revenue: Revenue that is recognized as “time-based license revenue” in our statement of operations comes from the following types of license arrangements:

Technology Subscription
Licenses (TSLs):

TSLs are licenses bundled with maintenance for a finite term. We typically recognize revenue from TSL fees ratably over the term of the license period, or as customer installments become due and payable, whichever is later.

Term Licenses with

Extended Payment Terms: Term licenses are for a finite term. For term licenses in which less than 75% of the term license fee is due within one year from shipment, we recognize revenue as customer installment payments become due and payable. Maintenance is purchased separately for the first year and may be renewed annually for the balance of the license term. Revenue from maintenance fees is recognized ratably over the maintenance period to the extent cash has been received and is reported as “maintenance and service revenue” in our statement of operations.

Perpetual Licenses with Extended Payment Terms: Perpetual licenses continue for as long as the customer renews maintenance, plus an additional twenty years. For perpetual licenses in which less than 75% of the perpetual license fee is payable within one year from shipment, we recognize revenue as customer installment payments become due and payable. Maintenance is purchased separately on an annual basis. Revenue from maintenance fees is recognized ratably over the maintenance period to the extent cash has been received and is reported as “maintenance and service revenue” in our statement of operations.

Upfront Revenue: Revenue that is recognized as “upfront revenue” in our statement of operations comes from the following types of license arrangements:

Perpetual Licenses:

Perpetual licenses continue for as long as the customer renews maintenance, plus an additional twenty years. We recognize revenue from perpetual licenses in full upon shipment of the software if payment terms require the customer to pay at least 75% of the perpetual license fee within one year from shipment and all other revenue recognition criteria are met. Maintenance is purchased separately on an annual basis. Revenue from maintenance fees is recognized ratably over the maintenance period to the extent cash has been received and is reported as “maintenance and service revenue” in our statement of operations.

Upfront Term Licenses:

Term licenses are for a finite term. We recognize revenue from term licenses in full upon shipment of the software (“upfront”) if payment terms require the customer to pay at least 75% of the term license fee within one year from shipment and all other revenue recognition criteria are met. Maintenance is purchased separately for the first year and may be renewed annually for the balance of the license term. Revenue from maintenance fees is recognized ratably over the maintenance period to the extent cash has been received and is reported as “maintenance and service revenue” in our statement of operations.

Renewable Licenses:

We sometimes refer to TSLs and term licenses (including both upfront term licenses and term licenses with extended payment terms), either individually or collectively, as “renewable licenses” because the customer must purchase an extension or a new license in order to continue using the software after the specified term of the contract expires.

Hardware Sales:

We recognize revenue from hardware sales in full upon shipment if all other revenue recognition criteria are met. Hardware sales have not been material to our total revenue and, therefore, revenue attributable to these hardware sales is reported as “upfront license revenue” in the consolidated statements of operations. We infrequently enter into multiple-element arrangements that contain both software and non-software deliverables such as hardware. Revenue allocated to the hardware is recognized upon delivery if all other revenue recognition criteria are met. Revenue allocated to the software is recognized according to the methods described above depending on the software license type (TSL, term license or perpetual license).

(1) Average renewable license duration represents the weighted average duration of the license arrangements closed in the period reported.

(2) Synopsys' backlog was approximately $3.1 billion on October 31, 2013, representing a 13% increase from backlog of approximately $2.7 billion on October 31, 2012. This increase resulted primarily from the renewal in fiscal 2013 of large multi-year contracts. Backlog represents committed orders that are expected to be recognized as revenue during the following three years. Backlog may not be a reliable predictor of our future sales as business conditions may change and technologies may evolve, and customers may seek to renegotiate their arrangements or default on their payment obligations. For this and other reasons, we may not be able to recognize expected revenue from backlog when anticipated.

(3) Amount of projected subsequent fiscal year revenue expected to come from backlog as of the end of the applicable fiscal year.

(4) Amounts may not foot due to rounding.

(5) Includes maintenance on term and perpetual licenses.

- (1) Amounts may not foot due to rounding.
- (2) Will typically track earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization (EBITDA) over time (less cash taxes). As operating cash flow is inherently lumpy, we believe it is important to look at multi-year averages. For the 3-year period ended in fiscal 2013, average annual operating cash flow was approximately $474 million.
- (3) Should be read in conjunction with the company's SEC filings and the reconciliations of the non-GAAP financial measures to their comparable GAAP measures found in this Supplement, as well as those available on the Synopsys website at www.synopsys.com.
- (4) The number of shares purchased in 2012 does not match the dollars spent in 2012 because during Q411, we entered into an accelerated share repurchase (ASR) agreement for $75 million. Under this agreement, we received 1.7 million shares in Q411 and received the balance of 1.1 million shares in Q112 when the ASR was completed. In Q112 we entered into an additional ASR agreement for $40 million, received 744,000 shares in Q112 and received the balance of approximately 624,000 shares in Q212.
- (5) Net share repurchases represent gross share repurchases plus cash generated from options exercised during each reported period, excluding cash paid for shares purchased under our employee stock purchase plan (ESPP). In fiscal 2013 and 2012, cash generated from our ESPP was $48.2 million and $42.6 million, respectively.

Table 6 – Reconciliations of Non-GAAP Financial Measures to GAAP

Please see our Current Report on Form 8-K filed with the SEC on May 21, 2014 available at www.sec.gov for the reasons why Synopsys believes that the presentation of non-GAAP financial measures provides useful information to our shareholders regarding our financial condition and results of operations and the purposes for which management uses such non-GAAP financial measures.

Non-GAAP Basis Operating Margin Reconciliation

Non-GAAP operating margin represents, for a given period, total non-GAAP operating income as a percentage of revenue for such period. The following table reconciles operating margin on a GAAP basis to operating margin on a non-GAAP basis for the three months ended April 30, 2014:

Table 6b – Non-GAAP Operating Margin Reconciliation (Unaudited)

	Three Months Ended April 30, 2014
GAAP operating margin	12.3%
Amortization of intangible assets	6.2%
Stock compensation	3.6%
Acquisition-related costs	0.8%
Other settlements	0.4%
Change in value of non-qualified deferred compensation	0.7%
Non-GAAP operating margin	24.0%

Certain other non-GAAP data used by management, as well as the reconciliation of such data to its most directly comparable GAAP measures, is contained in the second quarter fiscal year 2014 earnings release available on Synopsys’s website at www.synopsys.com/Company/InvestorRelations/Pages/FinancialNews.aspx and our Current Report on Form 8-K filed with the SEC on May 21, 2014.
